250 INCREASE REGISTERED IN SCHOOL TOTAL

Public School Enrollment 240 Above Last Year, Parochial 10 Higher

SECOND DAY REPORT

Advance in Attendance Reported as Largest in Last Five Years

More than 6,450 Marion boys and girls were enrolled in their classes today, the second day of the school year, according to attendance reports from the Marion Public and St. Mary's Parochial schools.

Enrollment in the Marion public schools today totaled 5,980 pupils, an increase of 240 over the second day of school last year. This was said to be the largest yearly increase on record here for over a five-year period. The total of the parochial school was 478, an increase of 10 pupils over the opening last year.

The total enrollment of the public schools, 5,980, included 918 Harding high students, 1,046 junior high students, and 4,016 grade students. Total enrollment of St. Mary's school includes 113 high school students and 365 grade school students.

Parochial Increase

The 10-pupil increase in enrollment at St. Mary's school was in the high school, despite the fact that the senior class, which numbers 20 students, is slightly smaller than the graduating class last year.

The increase in Harding high school enrollment this year over the second day of school last year was 38, while 202 more grade and junior high school students are enrolled this year than were in school the second day last year.

While enrollment in the public school this year was 240 more than at the same time last year, a year ago only 110 more pupils were enrolled than the year before, and records three years ago showed only a 74-pupil increase, four years ago an eight pupil increase and five years ago a 138 pupil increase.

Building Reports

The enrollment for the various schools is as follows: Harding high, 918 students; Central Junior high, 660; Oakland Heights, 521; Silver, 515; Glenwood, 449; Vernon Heigts Junior high, 380; Mark street, 306; Olney avenue, 303; State, 302; Oak, 295; Forest Lawn, 287; Greenwood, 283; Pearl, 283; Lincoln, 252; Davids, 113 and North Main, 107.

Two new teachers were added to the teaching staff of the parochial school, which numbers in all 13 religious teachers and one lay teacher, Mrs. Mary Maxwell, who succeeds Mrs Clara Nash.

OFFICIAL ADVOCATES MUNICIPAL ABATTOIR

Plan for Inspection of Animals Slaughtered for Market Outlined by Gruber

Construction of a municipal slaughter house in Marion where inspections of meat could be made before it is placed on sale, was advocated by Dr. J. T. Gruber, city milk and meat inspector, at city council meeting last night.

Dr. Gruber stressed the importance of making official examination of animals slaughtered for the meat markets. He declared that it would be impossible to make inspections under present conditions, as slaughtering is done in different parts of the county.

According to his plans as presented to council, all slaughterings of animals for the local markets would be conducted at the municipal abattoir. There the animals could be inspected for disease before they are killed and the meat could be examined before it is placed on the market, he stated.

A report of a recent meat inspection in which examination was made of 72 places in the city where meat is sold, was read by Dr. Gruber to the council. Fifty-eight grocery stores, 12 meat markets, one wholesale meat market and one abattoir were included in the inspection. His report revealed that 273 pounds of meat were condemned and ordered disposed of in five of the places inspected.

Hasell and Parker in More Thrills As Boat Sinks

Copenhagen, Sept. 11—George Hasell and Parker Cramer, the Rockford-to-Sweden fliers whose attempt ended on the wastelands of Greenland, were today aboard a small steamer enroute from Godthaab, Greenland, to Ivigtut, farther down the coast, where they will board a steamer for Denmark, according to radio advices received by the Greenland administration department here.

Hasell and Cramer, together with four members of the University of Michigan expedition to Greenland led by Prof. William F. Hobbs, experienced the thrills of an arctic shipwreck when a motorboat taking them to Holsteinborg struck a rock and sank at the mouth of Holsteins Fjord. All were rescued.

Paul Revere Role Taken By Flier; Spreads Fire Alarm

CLEVELAND, Sept. 11—The Paul Revere of the skies makes his appearance today in the person of William "Wild Bill" Hopson, air mail pilot of the Chicago-New York air route.

While making his regular trip last night Hopson discovered that a barn was on fire in Warrensville Heights village, on the outskirts of Cleveland. The blaze threatened several homes nearby and no one, apparently, was aware of it. The aviator swooped down and flew back and forth at a low altitude over the village until he awakened one of the residents who spread the alarm.

Zanesville City Council Approves Bond Issue for Site

ZANESVILLE, Sept. 11 — Approval of a $15,000 bond issue to purchase a 155-acre site for Zanesville's proposed municipal airport was on record here today following last night's meeting of city council.

The approval of council for the airport bond issue paves the way for another bond issue of $45,000 with which it is proposed to equip the airport.

THREE INDICTED IN REPORT OF GRAND JURORS

Five Cases Ignored in Session Opening Marion County Court Term

Out of eight cases considered, the grand jury which yesterday opened the September term of common pleas court here returned three indictments and ignored five cases.

True bills were returned against Joseph White, Kermett Kunkle and David Courtney.

The indictment against White charges him with breaking into Likens chapel, northeast of Marion, and stealing dishes belonging to the congregation of the church. Kunkle was indicted on a charge of stealing an automobile belonging to Max Yarrington. Failure to pay for the keeping of the children in the Marion County Childrens home was the charge on which Courtney was indicted.

Mahaffey Case Ignored

The grand jury ignored the case of John Mahaffey, who was arrested several weeks ago on a charge of shooting with intent to kill. The cases of Allen Christ and Earl Armstrong, alleged to be companions of Kunkle when the Yarrington car was stolen, and E. E. Mason, charged with issuing checks without funds, were also ignored.

The three persons indicted will be arraigned before Judge George B. Scofield, Saturday, when dates for their trials will be set for those who enter pleas of not guilty. Those entering pleas of guilty will be sentenced by Judge Scofield probably when arraigned.

The petit jury for the September term of court will meet next Monday.

EARL ROWLAND WINS CLASS A CONTEST

Officials Check Elapsed Time of Racers in Air Derby

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 11—Officials of the national air races, now in progress here, today were checking the elapsed time of the contestants in the Class A New York-to-Los Angeles air derby.

Earl Rowland, who brought his Cessna monoplane down at Mines field at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, is in all probability the winner of the $5,000 first prize. He led the field practically all the way from New York. He said today that he believed his flying time was approximately 22 hours.

After the planes arrived here they were lined up in two long rows before the grandstand, and the pilots and mechanics, plainly showing the effects of their arduous cross-country flight, were escorted to the microphone. Most of them were content simply to say, "We are glad to be here."

ANSWERS SMITH

Says Finances of State Misrepresented By Governor

Washington, Sept. 11—Under Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills today assailed Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, Democratic presidential candidate, for alleged misrepresentation of the financial condition of the state of New York.

Mills was replying to charges by Smith that he (Mills) had also misrepresented New York state finances by the statement "that the huge increase in resources due to prosperity had been applied under Governor Smith's mother to tax reduction not to debt reduction, but spent."

Mills asserted that when Smith became governor for the second time the net state debt in 1923 was $[illegible] and that by 1927 it had grown to $[illegible]

TWO MINISTERS RETURNED TO CHARGES HERE

Dr. B. L. George and Rev. George Whitlock Are Reappointed

YEISLEY LEAVES KENTON

Prospect Gets New Pastor, Green Camp Man Is Reappointed

Both Dr. B. L. George, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, and Rev. George Whitlock, pastor of Wesley M. E. church, were reappointed to their charges here at the closing session of the Ohio conference of the M. E. church this morning at Springfield.

Dr. George is returning here for his fourth consecutive year and Mr. Whitlock for his second year. Dr. George came here to succeed Dr. Jesse Swank of Dayton, four years ago, after he had resigned a Middletown pastorate.

Dr. George returned from conference this noon and Mr. Whitlock, Saturday. Dr. J. D. Darling, a former pastor of Wesley M. E. church, also attended from here.

The following assignments were made for churches of nearby communities: Prospect, C. W. Sultsbach from South Charleston; Bellefontaine, Daniel N. Kelly from Zanesville; Green Camp, Cloyce Copley; Richwood, W. A. Deaton from Milford; Wapakoneta, C. J. Yeisley from Kenton.

FLIER FATALLY HURT WHEN PLANE CRASHES

Lieutenant Williams Flying Upside Down as His Engine Stalls

Los Angeles, Sept. 11—Lieutenant J. J. Williams, 25, of Moad, Utah, army stunt aviator, died at a Culver City hospital early today from injuries received when his plane crashed during the national air races here yesterday.

The army pilot was flying upside-down trying to outstunt the famous "Seahawks" of the navy when his engine stalled. The plane sideslipped and crashed to the field directly in front of the grandstand.

The pilot was wedged in the cockpit and was unconscious when removed from the wreckage of the plane.

Lieutenant Williams with Lieutenants Woodring and Cornelius comprised the army's first pursuit group from Selfridge Field, Michigan. They came to the national air races to compete with the navy in stunt flying.

FIRST CUT RATE CABS ON STREETS IN CLEVELAND

Cleveland, Sept. 11—The first of Cleveland's cut rate taxi-cabs, operating in competition with several long established taxi companies, appeared on the streets today. Police have been cautioned to guard against violence between the competing companies. The new cabs, known as Nickel Taxis, charge a five cent flagging toll and five cents for every quarter mile thereafter. The older companies have charged 25 cents for flagging and 10 cents for every two-fifths mile.

COOPER IN TOLEDO

Columbus, Sept. 11—Myers Y. Cooper, Republican nominee for governor, is to confer tomorrow at Toledo with city and Lucas county G. O. P. leaders and to address a meeting of the National Music Merchants' Association there, Charles D. Simeral, chairman of the speakers' bureau at Republican state headquarters, announced today.

GARDINER AND HALE SWEPT TO MAINE VICTORY

Republicans Swamp Democrats in State; Majorities Overwhelming

DEMOCRATS NOT WORRIED

Foresee No Defeat Ahead Despite Old Political Adage

Portland, Me., Sept. 11—With 544 precincts complete out of the state's 633 William Tudor Gardiner today had been elected governor of Maine over Edward C. Moran Jr., Democratic candidate, by a majority that was expected to exceed 80,000 with complete returns. The vote was Gardiner, 138, 360, Moran, 62,910.

Senator Frederick Hale was assured of reelection over his Democratic opponent, Herbert E. Holmes with the same number of precincts in by 134, 908 votes to 80,745.

Next to the overwhelming Republican majorities, the sharp decline in the Democratic vote and Hale's close follow of Gardiner's lead were the features of the election. Republicans won all along the line by a vote of more than two to one.

These returns include the city of Portland complete. Incomplete returns from other precincts indicate a total Republican majority of more than 80,000.

Curtis Not Surprised

Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican vice presidential candidate, who campaigned in Maine, declared the result was important because it showed the "sentiment of the people."

"I am not surprised," he declared. "The majority is a little higher than I thought it would be. The result simply shows the trend of the sentiment of the people toward the Republican party."

Democrats were not discouraged. They pointed out that Maine is an solidly Republican as the south is Democratic, and foresaw no defeat ahead in November for the National ticket despite the old political adage that "As Maine Goes, So Goes the Nation."

MAINE VICTORY HAILED BY G. O. P.

Washington, Sept. 11—Republicans hailed with glee today the result of the Maine election.

They said the psychological effect of the record Republican vote would prove a material boon to the Hoover-Curtis ticket in other normally Republican states throughout the country.

To accomplish this purpose national headquarters sent some of its biggest guns into Maine to help the state candidates.

HALT APPOINTMENT

Denver Prohibition Officer Seeks To Adjust His Status

Washington, Sept. 11—The appointment of John L. Youngblood as assistant prohibition administrator at Denver has been held up temporarily pending an effort by John C. Richardson, the incumbent, to bring about a satisfactory adjustment of the latter's status by the civil service commission.

Richardson, the treasury announced today, failed to qualify under civil service requirements. Commissioner J. M. Doran said Richardson had been a satisfactory officer, and considerable pressure is being brought to bear to keep him in the service. Youngblood's appointment was announced here, but the papers still remain on Doran's desk.

SPLIT ENDS

Crusading Publisher Joins "Regular" Republican Ranks in Indiana

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 11—Bitter warfare that has split the Indiana Republican party for two years appeared to have come to an end with today the announcement by Thomas H. Adams, crusading publisher of the Vincennes, Ind., Commercial, that he would support both national and state tickets of the G. O. P.

The "bad boy" of the Hoosier G. O. P. has put aside the slingshot of his crusading and will march in the "regular" Republican ranks in support of Harry G. Leslie for governor, the man whom in the primary race for governor, he denounced with charges that Leslie as speaker of the house of representatives, blocked the proposed legislative investigation of political corruption.

McKelvey, Youngstown, of the northeast district; Mrs. Beecher Moke, Lima, of the northwest district; Mrs. D. B. Hartinger, Middletown, of the southeast district, and Mrs. H. W. Solomon, Middletown, of the southwest district.

FUNERAL HELD TODAY FOR SLAIN GANGSTER

Gangland and Police Rub Shoulders as Throngs View Body of Lombardo

Chicago, Sept. 11—Gangland and police rubbed shoulders today at the funeral here of Tony Lombardo, slain lieutenant of "Scarface Al" Capone.

Gangland, including Capone and his picked bodyguard of gunmen, was there—watching and waiting for the strangers who, according to gangland's grapeline telegraph, are in Chicago to accomplish their ultimate aim, the death of the underworld's greatest chieftain, Capone.

Police, at least a hundred strong, mingled with the crowd of swarthy Italians, gaudy dressed women, politicians and the "common people" who had turned out to witness the greatest funeral since that of Dion O'Bannion.

It was a holiday crowd. Rain which threatened all morning, came down in showers but the milling thousands outside the modest brick bungalow Lombardo had built for his wife and two small children, refused to leave the scene. Men hung in little groups, their hands held in suspiciously bulging pockets. All strangers were scrutinized carefully, even rudely.

STEPS TAKEN FOR PURCHASE OF 140 ACRES

Action on $12,600 Appropriation Expected at Meeting Tonight

LEGISLATION ORDERED

Proposed 105-Acre Field Rejected as Too Small; Adjoining Land Chosen

An agreement which is expected to result in selection and purchase of an airport site for the city of Marion was reached at an executive session of city council following its regular session at city hall, last night.

According to reports of the executive session, council decided to abandon plans for purchase of the 105-acre tract west of the city originally proposed for the landing field and to buy, instead, 140 acres located directly south of the 105.

City Solicitor George T. Geran was instructed by the council to draw up necessary legislation for appropriation of $12,600 for purchase of the 140 acre plot. The new ordinance is expected to be passed at an adjourned meeting of the council to be held at 7 o'clock tonight.

Preparations for purchase of the 140-acre tract were made following the decision to drop the proposal for the purchase of the 105-acre field for which $7,000 was recently appropriated.

Reasons for Change

Belief that the 105 acres would not be sufficient for the needs of the city in the future was given as the cause for the decision of the council in dropping the proposal for that tract. The ordinance providing for the appropriation of the $7,000 for buying the site will likely be repealed at the adjourned session tonight, officials state.

The council reached the decision that the 105 acres would not make an ample field for Marion's airport on an investigating tour of the site last week. Considering the fact that the field would have to be tiled for drainage and several sections would have to be filled in to level off the ground for airplane landing, the council abandoned the purchase proposal.

An immediate decision on the proposal for purchase of the land was made necessary following the report of John H. Clark, attorney for the executors of the Ezra Campbell estate, which owns the 105-acre tract. In a statement to council last night Clark gave the council until midnight tonight to purchase or reject the field.

Prompt Action Necessary

Stating that the executors of the estate believed that ample time had been given council in which to buy the land, Clark made prompt action necessary.

The option on the land to the city, according to Clark, was granted in an unwritten agreement between the executors of the estate and H. E. Prettyman, chairman of the airport committee of the council. He stated in his report last night that another buyer was in the market for the field and that the executors were attempting to close up

ARRANGE CLOSING PAGEANT PRACTICE

Cast for County Fair Play Will Hold Final Rehearsal Tonight

Final rehearsal for the historical pageant which will be presented on Wednesday and Thursday nights as one of the features of the Marion county fair is to be held at the fairgrounds tonight. The rehearsal will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and will be held in front of the grandstand, where the pageant is to be presented. No one will be admitted to the grandstand tonight, according to directors of the pageant.

The Wednesday and Thursday presentations of the pageant will begin at 8 o'clock. Approximately one and a half hours are required to present the various scenes. More than 300 persons are in the cast, including groups from Marion, Morral, Waldo, Green Camp, Prospect, and Claridon and Pleasant townships.

The pageant opens with a prologue, followed by the creation ballet. The Indian episode, covered wagon scene, an allegorical episode, scenes depicting the first church and first marriage in the county, and the underground railway scene follow in order.

The pageant will close with a scene depicting America as the melting pot of nations and the grand finale which includes the entire cast.

NEW METHOD RINSES RUST STAINS AWAY

Wash-basins and Bathtubs Freed From Discoloration—Made Gleaming White in 10 Minutes' Time

Dripping water causes these stains. Red Seal Lye rinses (not scours) them away in 10 minutes. Here's how to do it.

Just run the basin or tub partly full of hot water—enough to cover the stains, then shake in a little Red Seal Lye from the handy shaker can. The more water, the more Red Seal. Let it stand five minutes. Then empty and repeat the dose. Rinse with hot water and the stains are gone. Your basin or tub is spotless white again. No back-tiring scouring necessary. For Red Seal Lye is 97% pure—the purest, quickest, most economical lye made. No cheap adulterants to weaken its cleansing, purifying power. It melts away rust and grease like snow in the sun.

Not only for this, but for a dozen other purposes Red Seal Lye is a handy thing to have around the house. It purifies garbage pails in 3 minutes. It cleans the dirtiest, greasiest pot in the same time. Full directions for every use are given in a little folder enclosed within the cover top. Now (while you are thinking of it) jot down on your grocery list "Order 1 can Red Seal Lye." Keep your home spotlessly clean without scouring.

GUESTS AT CHURCH

College Students Honored With Farewell Reception

Approximately 45 young people of First Presbyterian church were entertained at a farewell reception for college students about to return to their studies, last night in the recreational parlors at the church. The honored guests represented Wooster college, Ohio Wesleyan university, University of Michigan, University of Cincinnati and Marion Business college.

Seniors, juniors and sophomores of Harding high school assisted in entertaining.

The time was spent socially and with games, contests and stunts. The Cincinnati group, John Kennedy, Richard Walker and Robert Annen, were awarded first honors for a slight-of-hand performance given as their "stunt."

Luncheon was served by a refreshment committee comprised of Mrs. Frank Annen, Mrs. Fred Sage and Mrs. S. S. Bader. Miss Helen Roby and Martin Verburg were in charge of the entertainment.

GIVES ADDRESS

Large Audience Hears Dr. Manikam at Local Church

"The Challenge of Mother India" was the subject of an interesting address given by Dr. Rajah B. Manikam, a native Lutheran preacher from India, at an exceptionally well attended service last night at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church.

In his address Dr. Manikam referred to India as a "county of contrasts," and showed the differences in living conditions of the wealthy and poor of that country and the differences in climate. The offering taken was presented Dr. and Mrs. Manikam for their expenses while studying in this country.

A ROMANCE OF GRIPPING HUMAN INTEREST.

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

CHAPTER FIFTY-FOUR

It was nearing Autumn again. The gold patch still glowed, bravely but rather wistfully, too, yearning toward the passing summer. And a few of the four-o'clocks opened lips for the afternoon sun.

The gay cosmos smiled through the haze of their leaves and hydrangeas beginning to blush with pleasure were alive and in bloom. The garden was blithe in spite of its transparency.

It was a dreamy, gentle interlude for Emily, filled with peace; a time when she saw herself as a figure on a long trail, not unhappy but aimless.

Looking into the sunset toward some adventure of a sort, perhaps. But already thrill with it; no vivid ray of inspiration striking from a lofty peak like the one which had beckoned long ago.

Behind her were turbulent days, over and done, and here was rest in a full, circle of quiet. Later she must step again, meet the problems of life. But those seemed far away now and very real.

She spent much time in thought, reviewing the months just past; marveling at the manner in which chance—or was it Frances declared, Supreme intelligence—had cleared her way.

After she had closed the link which connected Bianca Wickert to the murder of her husband, terror had come to her. For she understood that Bianca's conviction would not keep her silence from being a witness in the case; it would not keep Kitten from public disgrace.

It wouldn't save Kent either, since he felt it his duty to call his own sister to the stand.

"All we can do is the right thing, Emily," he said, his face grim. "If trouble comes from that we must meet it."

It came the morning when the sheriff went to the Wickert home with the warrant and found only frightened servants. Bianca had gone. The search for her extended far and wide but she had a 12-hour start. And there were plenty to help her in New York's Spanish quarter.

After a time the metropolitan newspapers no longer carried her name in headlines and even Lyall talked of something else.

So there was no trial in the old brick courthouse at Novel City.

Years later one returning from a world tour was to bring back an account of a beautiful and temperamental Spanish dancer, toast of a South American capital. And a few were to wonder if the woman were Bianca. But none ever knew or cared, particularly. Few mourned Nicky Wickert.

There was another morning when Kitten and Ted were married at the parsonage of the Methodist Church. Very solemn, rather beautiful it had seemed to Emily with her arm about Agnes who wept throughout the ceremony.

Kitten, strangely sober, little face spiritualized, a glory in the amber eyes. At her side the dark boy so young, so tender, so filled with lofty purpose.

He came to Emily before he took Kitten away and pressed her hand between his palms. "I'll always be good to her," he said.

"I know you will, Ted. Bless you." Nevertheless she wept over the bride. "You're going to be happy, Kitten-cat?"

"Emmy, dear! I've never thanked you!"

"There, now. Why, it's all right, darling. Emmy understands."

"I do love you so. Next to Ted. Isn't he wonderful? I'm going to be a good wife to him. Well, I've learned. Good-bye, Emmy—Muz. Good-bye."

Then went to the "cute little bungalow" Ted had made ready and began to live, as he said, "like a king and queen."

Things were quieter after that. Stella, feeling at last she could leave her baby, came to work in the shop. She saw none of the romance there Emily had found; colors were just colors to her and not living beauty; she never had experienced the fascination of Just Pretend.

But she worked earnestly and what she lacked in imagination she made up in effort. Frances called her dependable and was satisfied.

Eventually Emily went back to scanning the society column. And it was on the day she read of Mrs. Dirk Van Alstyne's trip abroad that she saw Marty's engagement announced.

Mrs. Van Alstyne, the item ran, had gone to Paris to file suit for divorce. While there she would be the guest of Miss Marilee Grainger who had taken up a permanent residence in the French city.

Then: "Judge and Mrs. Samuel Morrow announce the engagement of their daughter, Anne, to Mr. Martin Aloysious Nolan. The marriage will take place in October."

"So it was ambition," Emily reflected. "Not just poor little Kitten. Well—" But suddenly she laughed. "One would think I cared. Probably they love each other and are very happy. I'm sure I hope so."

She forgot it then, so completely as to be rather startled later when she read of the wedding plans.

Kent had been out of town a month or more and she was glad. His absence seemed an opportunity; a time in which to pull away from him, from all he had meant through the Wickert affair and afterward.

Emily did not try to deceive herself about her love for him. It had grown with the years; nothing she had thought or felt or experienced had changed it; nothing could change it. Kent to her was a young god and she wanted only to enshrine him in memory; to be alone, upon rare occasions, with the image of him, adoring priestess in a temple of dreams.

Before he went away he dropped into the shop sometimes, talking to her in his winsome, happy manner, even teasing her a bit as he did in the old days. Sometimes he asked her to drive and to dine at the yacht club, but she refused. Association, she felt, could lead only to pain for her. Harder to forget if she saw him often.

It was after one of his calls that Frances said a peculiar thing. "Remember you're one of the owners here, my dear. Your income from the shop—its sizeable, now, isn't it?—will grow.

"Have you ever thought if you wished to stop work that income might do for your mother very nicely? It will go on, you know.

"But why should I stop work, dear Frances?"

"Well," smiling, "you might wish to get married."

"The idea!"

But the sweet face was red and when Kent came the next time she tried to be distant. She didn't see him again before he left.

And now it was almost Autumn and Emily was beginning to think that soon she must shake off the inertia which held her so graciously. Plan something in the way of progress for herself. The long, long trail—she would tramp that head up and shoulders back. It was no part of her instinct to grow drab.

High resolution uplifted and comforted her; she felt a new exuberance. Walking up the hill that evening she sang a little; even when she saw in the society column that Kent had come home she was not shaken. She felt strong enough to set aside her love for him.

She still was planning, alone in the porch swing, when the moon rose. A great, burnished disc above the Tarrytown hills spreading an orange glow in the sky, drawing a path of light on the river. It powdered the garden white, made dark, mysterious shapes of the evergreens. She thrilled to the enchantment of it.

And thought of Kent. A vivid, joyous vision came to her of the night under the pergola; a night like this when he had leaned toward her and said she was the prettiest girl in Lyall. Prettiest and sweetest, he had said. So fine, so dear, he was. . . .

Almost she could hear him singing again the magic song:

"Oh moon of my delight that knows no wane,
The moon of heaven is rising once again—"

Vibrant and soft his voice, very tender; it filled her with an overpowering sense of beauty. She tried to put it from her mind but the song went on:

"How oft hereafter rising shall she look
Through this same garden, and for me in vain!"

She knew then that it wasn't fancy. A tall figure was coming down the lane, head back, face to the stars; a tall boy, singing as he walked.

Beautiful—oh, infinitely beautiful that he should come to her like this. So natural it seemed—the pause at the gate, the quick step on the walk. His nearness, his dearness beside her there.

"Emily! Little white flower—dearest, dearest—" His arms about her, lips on her hair, her eyes—the kiss that swept her as with ecstatic, soaring music.

She could not speak, only think, "This is love; this is Kent. Meeting me at the Lily Lock—oh—"

"You do love me, Emily? Enough? I've wanted you so! I didn't know what it was. I'll never let you go again. Sweetheart and dearest, do you love me?"

"You know, Kent."

"We won't wait? Now I've got you—be married right away?"

But that brought her back to every day things; she was afraid. "How can we? Your father and mother—"

"They'll love you. I've talked to dad; want to hear what he said? 'I hope she'll consent to come into the family. We need a little thoroughbred like her.'"

"Kent! But I'm just a nobody. Father a factory-hand. And you!"

He laughed in a pleased way. "I'll tell you something if you'll never breathe to mother you know. My great-grandfather was a factory-hand. What do you think of that? Wore a red flannel shirt and put stocking-feet on the table and brought his sons up to fight and fear God. Does that even it up?"

"Why—"

"You speak about blue-blood, but all blood is the same color, Emily. We won't talk of this again. And how about next week? Thursday, say, or maybe Tuesday?"

She looked out over the river. The radiance of the moon fell upon two ships, white and slender, very graceful in the path of light. They were anchored side by side.

"Sweetheart—"

"Yes, Kent," she said.

The Heart Story of a Womans Lasting Affections

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Asks Harry To Adopt a Formal Manner

HARRY UNDERWOOD rushed me down the steps of the farmhouse and out to the new car which he had brought round to the side of the house. He motioned me to the driver's seat, but I shook my head decidedly.

"Not with an audience," I said. "When we get out on a quiet road I'll try it out."

"Whatever you say, Lady Fair," he boomed and helped me into the seat beside the driver's. As he went around to the other side to get in himself I glanced voluntarily up at Marion's room and saw the flutter of a curtain. She was not so upset then as to preclude an interest in the new car! I felt curiously cheered at this betrayal of childish curiosity—it was an improvement on jealous sulking, at any rate.

I did not know that Mr. Underwood had seen that involuntary glance until he said quietly:

"Suppose you duck all the problems until we head toward home again."

I looked up at him startled and saw a twisted grin upon his lips.

"Oh! I'm not flattering myself that you're dropping everything and coming for a spin this early in the morning just to try out the new car or for the pleasure of my company. You're altogether too busy a chatelaine for that. You want to smack me for something and stand me in the corner with my face to the wall, and you grabbed this heaven-sent opportunity to do it. But I refuse to be smacked until you've driven this car a league or two, first. You'll be in a much better humor, then, and I shall get off more easily."

"You are incorrigible," I said, laughing, "but I'll promise you not to think of anything but this car all the time I'm driving."

"And me," he supplied, investing his voice with an emotional tensity which jolted me for an instant in its reminder of years gone by, when I had had to parry words like that from Harry Underwood's lips. Then his laugh boomed out, and I looked up to see his eyes dancing with delight at having drawn me. I gave a little sigh of relief that the worry of those old days when my best friend's husband was trying to invest our association with romance had forever fled.

"Had you that time!" he chuckled. "You could have posed for a startled fawn without any difficulty. Don't worry! I'm a reformed character, as I told you some time ago. And here we turn on this road which is sufficiently deserted for your debut in driving this boat."

He descended from the driver's seat I slid over, and for the next hour I reveled in a driver's dream of drifting over smooth roads behind a perfectly functioning car, responding to one's lightest touch. I have had enough experience in driving, so that I needed but a few minutes to familiarize myself with the mechanism and for the rest of the time I just drove on and on, at a pace whose swiftness I did not realize myself until the wonderful speed dazzle lapsed. Amusement bobbed up before us. Then I turned around and sped back again. As we neared home I remembered that delaying the new car was not my only reason for accompanying Harry Underwood on this morning trip. I must have slowed down unconsciously, for Mr. Underwood said in the tone of a resigned small boy:

"I'm ready for the punishing work Madge Bradley promised you but you're giving it to me."

I laughed and guiding the car to the side of the road, stopped it and turned off the ignition.

"It isn't a smacking," I said. "You haven't done a single thing which isn't your right, but I'm going to ask a favor of you which you may resent."

"Not from you, Lady Fair," he returned promptly. "Go ahead, shoot the works."

I seized my swiftly vanishing courage and held it fast.

"Until Marion goes will you adopt a little more formal manner toward Lillian and omit all familiar nick names?"

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

It was kinda coolish in the night last night, so that I reached around for cover, but there wasn't any. All the covers are put away with mothballs, so I got up and let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and put on my short britches and went downstairs and took the pail and went out and milked and came in and strained it and was feeling my face and the phone rang and my mother answered it and called me and I said "Hello!" and a voice said, "This is Feeble, keep your face shut." Then I could hear her hang up, and my father wanted to know who it was and what they wanted, and I said it was Feeble and she had told me to keep my face shut," ad they all thought that was a good joke.

Feeble came over and hadn't went around for Younins and Maggie, and her and me went out and sot on the front step quite a while before the bunch got onto where we were, and she said her father reads the paper out loud to her mother every morning, and she said he read that a bunch of eggs had tried to rob Mr. Wagmore's bank, and a policeman had shot and killed two of them, and that the policeman had got shot and was getting well in the hospital, and he told the newspapers that a little boy and girl had gave the alarm and someone had stuck a piece of pipe through the hind wheels of the auto so the eggs couldn't get away, and there was a big reward for someone but it was just so well the children wasn't known as members of the gang might take them for a ride in the country.

I told Feeble that I wouldn't mind going for a ride in the country, and she said neither would she, but she would want to go with decent people and not any rubbers, and I told her so would I.

After we went to the pasture and sot in swimming in the creek while the girls hunted for four leaf clovers the other side of the pasture we [illegible] and got some apples and then we [illegible] out to the bank of the creek [illegible] didn't enjoy it very much because she was very skinny and [illegible] go and walk by Feeble's [illegible] someone to catch [illegible] going to tell but I [illegible] with her when [illegible] gave me a [illegible] from the [illegible]

I took three long straddles and was in the river.

I was lucky I didn't tear my pants straddling so far, but the Last Rag of Triple straddled farther than that when I got out and took after him. I didn't catch him, but an apple I had took him in the back of his head and almost tipped him over on his nose. I went to bed early.

Beauty and the Million

DRAMATIC STORY OF AMAZING ADVENTURE

BY WILLIAM ALMON WOLFF

THE STORY SO FAR

Jim Renshaw, after several years in the far west, arrives in Chicago in old clothes, but with plenty of money. He registers at a smart hotel, buys expensive suits and goes to the theatre. By accident he sits next to Irene Delmar, society heiress of New York. In leaving the theatre she loses track of her father and mother—and Jim comes to her rescue.

Now go on with the story.

• • •

CHAPTER 2

JIM RENSHAW, sitting beside Irene Delmar in the cab, during the all too brief a trip to the hotel, was in the seventh heaven of delight. Too brief, that trip was—yet it was long enough, as it proved. For Miss Delmar, it was to turn out, was above the minor conventions. A Delmar, like a queen, could do no wrong. If it pleased Miss Irene Delmar to condescend to a strange young man who caught her fancy, who was to gainsay her?

"This is really very nice," she said, serenely. "I'm Irene Delmar. I think most rules are absurd, don't you? Why isn't it just as satisfactory for us to tell one another who we are as to have some one neither of us really knows do it? I thought, back there in the theater, that it might be amusing to know you—I think you felt the same way. Perhaps we're wrong—what of it? We don't have to go on. Meanwhile—just who are you?"

He told her, haltingly, confused, amazed, by his good fortune. He'd hoped that some day he might meet girls like this. No—not like this. He never dreamed of a girl like this. But a girl beautifully marvelously dressed with a brain as well as looks—how could he have hoped that she would notice him, be willing thus to overlook custom, convention, usage?

The elder Delmars, seemingly quite unperturbed, were waiting in the lobby of the hotel. They hadn't worried. It was plain; they accepted Jim's presence without outward show of surprise.

"A nice pair you are!" said their daughter. "Leaving your only child that that way! If Mr. Renshaw hadn't been there to take care of me—well, you know Chicago!"

"Assuming that Chicago had been foolish enough to entertain any designs upon you, my dear," said Mr. Delmar, "my sympathies would have been wholly with what the newspapers call the metropolis of the west in any disturbance that had resulted. How does everyone feel about food? I have an inclination toward a rarebit, myself. Mr. Renshaw—can I persuade you to have some supper with us?"

"Do," said Irene. His head swam; he was able though, to mumble acquiescent sounds.

They went into the grill; a table next to the dance floor was miraculously provided in what had seemed a crowded room. Henry Delmar was known to headwaiters and captains in all the great restaurants of the world—from the Astor House in Shanghai to the Carlton in London and the Ritz in Paris. A famous orchestra was playing; Irene's head nodded in time to the triple rhythm of "Do, do, do."

"I'll eat anything!" she said. "Come on—don't you want to dance?"

She was looking at Jim. The next moment they were a part of the gleaming, colorful maze in the center of the room.

"But—you dance beautifully!" she said. "You know—I'm beginning to think you have some deep, dark secret. You're much too good to be true. Where have you been? Why hasn't one known you? Or is the west really the land of opportunity? Are there more or less United States full of amusing young men who dance marvelously and are on hand to rescue bored young women from lonely taxi rides? I shall have to look into this!"

"No," he said firmly, "You needn't. It's quite all right. I've been in training, you see."

"Really?" she said, her eyes sparkling. "For what?"

"Meeting you!"

She nodded, approvingly.

"How nice!" she said. "Still—that leaves quite a lot to my imagination, doesn't it? Have you had a photograph of me pasted upon the wall of your lonely hut in the Sierras, like the man in 'Soldiers of Fortune'? That possibility is what has reconciled me to having my picture taken for years—"

"No," he said, regretfully. "If I'd thought of it I might have arranged that. But—no—I never even saw a picture of you."

"Lucky man!" she said.

"But—I've always known you were in the world, somewhere—"

"Ah! How did you know?"

"You had to be—that's all."

"But what do you do? How do you live? And where? And how does it happen that you and father are the only men here in dinner jackets that fit you decently around the neck."

"I suppose your father has a good tailor, now—"

"Oh, father! He invented good tailors! But—you?"

"It's a long story," he said, "I—well, I'm like a butterfly—"

"You must weigh 175 pounds," she said, musingly.

"Well, I mean—a butterfly's a cocoon or a grub or something first, isn't it, for a long time—getting ready?" He laughed. "You ought to have seen the clothes I was wearing when I got into Chicago yesterday."

"I love detective stories," she said. "Where do you really live?"

"Where do you?" he countered.

She laughed.

"Let me see," she said "We used to have a house in New York, but we gave that up for an apartment. Then there is a house still, in London, and an apartment in Paris, and a place in Bedfordshire. And there's the Southampton house, and the one in Pasadena we've just come from, and a villa at Nice, and a camp in the Adirondacks, and a place near Aiken, and a cottage at Palm Beach. Oh—I suppose you might say we live in New York."

"I see. Then I shall take an apartment in New York."

"I think you'd better, myself," she said. "Where?"

"I was going to ask you that?"

"Well," she said, "that depends. Have you plenty of money?"

"I think so," he said. "Fifty or sixty thousand a year, I should think."

"Oh, that's plenty," she said. The Delmars had so much money that they could afford to be careful about how they spent it and kept it and even about how they talked about it. One must be rich indeed not to have to affect carelessness about money. "I think I can find you a very nice flat for a thousand or so a month. And I'll help you to do it, if you like—I wouldn't trust a single decorator I know to do it properly for you.

"Splendid!" he said.

"This is like me," she said. "How do I know there isn't a Mrs. Renshaw?"

"I don't know how you know," he said, "but you do. There isn't, of course. You—"

He stopped, and so did the music. She looked at him, and her smile was cool and friendly.

"Yes," she said, "I do know, of course. We'll see, won't we? I am hungry—let's see what they order for us."

He never knew what it was he had to eat that night. He didn't care. Before long Mr. and Mrs. Delmar left them to go to bed. But he and Irene stayed on and on. They danced again and again, and between dances they talked.

He was completely under this girl's spell. Never had he known, never had he so much as dreamed of knowing a girl like her. It wasn't only her beauty that enthralled him. The way she talked thrilled him; the way, from the very beginning, she admitted him to intimacy. He wanted, as he had never wanted before, to talk about himself, to tell her all that was in his mind and in his heart.

She turned to him at last.

"I've got to know," she said, "I don't care what time it is! Tell me about yourself. Really, I mean. Who are you? Where did you spring from? You're mysterious! Are you clever enough to know that no girl can go to bed with a mystery unsolved? Tell me at once!"

She was laughing, but she was earnest.

"Well—" he said. "Once upon a time I was born, of rich but honest parents, and I had an uncle—"

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting sour acids. 25c and 50c a bottle — at druggists.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been a U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

GRIDDERS HURT

Two Carroll Students Injured as Motorcycle Upsets

Ravenna, Sept. 11—Two members of the football squad at John Carroll university, Cleveland, were in a hospital here today as the result of a motorcycle accident last night.

Leroy Brickman, guard at the university, and William "Frank" Eredics, were both hurt when a motorcycle on which they were riding, driven by Eredics, overturned while rounding a curve on a road which leads to the university football camp near Lake Stafford.

The entire squad had been to Ravenna earlier in the evening and were returning. The others in an automobile, picked up the two and returned with them to the hospital here. Brickman, regarded as one of John Carroll's best backfield hopes this year, was unconscious more than four hours, and is not expected to play this season.

Danger Signals of High Blood Pressure

"Dizzy spells, hot flashes, pains in the head, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, and nervousness usually indicate high blood pressure," warns physician who found treatment to reduce it.

These are symptoms which show an accumulation of poisonous waste matter in the system or that one or more of your organs has weakened and caused the heart to be overtaxed. Check it at once for it is known high blood pressure brings on hardening of the arteries, and other serious conditions.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 11—Gov. Alfred E. Smith plunged into the real work of preparing for his forthcoming invasion of the west today heartened by assurances that he is going into no unfriendly territory, but that on the contrary he is going to receive a great welcome from a people politically undecided and eager to hear his message.

These assurances were brought to Albany by former Senator Gilbert Hitchcock, of Nebraska, in which state Governor Smith will inaugurate his western speaking tour one week from tonight. In that speech the governor plans to make his position on farm relief unmistakably clear.

Present indications are that the governor in his Omaha speech will commend the principle of the equalization fee as applied to the disposal of crop surpluses, without, however, committing himself to any particular labelled plan.

Prohibition, the senator said, would not cut a great deal of ice in Nebraska.

As for the religious issue, he declared Nebraska had had a "mild case" of being alarmed over that, "but it seems to be wearing off."

There has been a marked swing toward Smith on the part of the farmers during the last 90 days, Hitchcock declared.

Governor Smith will devote most of his time this week to the preparation of data to be used in his western speeches. The callers at Albany will be few.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received at the Pleasant Township House, in Pleasant Township, Marion County, Ohio, which said Pleasant Township House is located about five miles southwest of Marion on the Mautz-Owens Pike in Pleasant Township, Marion County, Ohio, until the 20th day of September, A. D. 1928, at one o'clock P. M., Eastern Standard Time, for furnishing all of the material and performing all of the labor required for the construction and improvement of the following described improvement in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor; said improvement being known as the Neumans-Cardington Township Road No. 122:

"Beginning at the Marion-Delaware Pike on the section line between sections 24 and 25, Pleasant Township, Marion County, Ohio; thence east and south on or near the line of road 122, if on the line between said sections 24 and 25 and through section 25 of Pleasant Township and section 30 of Richland Township to the Columbus and Sandusky I. C. H. No. 4 and there terminating a distance of about 1.7 miles.

The said plans and specifications for the improvement of said road are on file with Paul W. Augenstein, Clerk of the Joint Board of Township Trustees of Pleasant, Richland and Waldo Townships, at his residence at Route No. 1, Canaan Pike, Pleasant Township, Marion County, Ohio, and also at the office of C. R. Leavens, County Surveyor of Marion County, Ohio, at the Court House in Marion, Ohio.

Said work to be commenced by October 1, 1928, and completed within 120 days after the commencement of said improvement.

All bidders are requested to be present at the above-named time and place where all prospopals will be publicly opened, read and examined and an award made at that time or at such time to which consideration of the said bids may be duly adjourned as provided by law.

Each bid must be accompanied by cash or a certified check on some solvent bank in Marion County, Ohio, in an amount equal to five per cent of the estimated cost of the improvement, made payable to the order of Paul W. Augenstein, Clerk of the Joint Board of Township Trustees of Pleasant Richland and Waldo Townships, Marion County, Ohio, for the benefit of the said Pleasant, Richland and Waldo Townships, which will be forfeited by the successful bidder in case he fails to enter into a contract and furnish a bond within five days of the date of the awarding of the contract. The successful bidder will be requested to give a bond in an amount equal to one-half the estimated cost of the improvement with two sureties or one surety company to the approval and satisfaction of the said Paul W. Augenstein, Clerk of the Joint Board of Township Trustees of Pleasant, Richland and Waldo Township, Marion County, Ohio, for the proper construction and completion of the work.

All bids must be signed by all parties interested in the contract and shall contain the full name of every person or company interested in the same and enclosed in an envelope with the name of the bidder therein and sealed before delivery. No bid will be received that exceeds the estimated cost of the improvement and the said Joint Board of Township Trustees hereby reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

DEMOCRATS IGNORE G.O.P. SOUTHERN DRIVE

Raskob Declares Reports of Democratic Revolts Are Exaggerated

New York, Sept. 11—The Democratic campaign managers will ignore the Republican drive in the solid south, it was definitely revealed today by Chairman John J. Raskob.

Since the announcement that Herbert Hoover would personally carry his campaign into Tennessee early in October, the Democratic high command has been seriously occupied with the question on intensifying the projected drive below the Mason-Dixon line. Following receipt of reports described as reassuring from field managers throughout the south, the national executive committee has decided to go along on the present strategy program in the Democartic stronghold.

Reports of growing Democartic disaffection throughout the south, Raskob declared, are largely exaggerated throughout the east and middle west by Republican newspapers. One of the party chiefs who brought this reassurance to Chairman Raskob was Maj. George L. Berry of Tennessee, president of the International Pressman's Union and director of the Democratic National Labor Bureau. Berry's reports, he said, were based upon direct contact with Democrats from every southern state during the recent national convention of the pressmen's union.

Aknowledges Denouncement

Raskob today acknowledged the statement of Dr. Hubert Work, denouncing the whispering religious campaign against Gov. Alfred E. Smith, as an "expression of a fine attitude for the Republican party to take."

"I hope," he added, "that they will make a real effort to maintain it because of what Mr. Hoover promised. It is the promise we made in good faith, too."

Following a conference with all of the Democratic congressional candidates in Pennsylvania, Raskob today reasserted his claim to the Keystone state for Governor Smith and Senator Robinson.

The Smith-Robinson drive, aside from the speaking tours of the two nominees themselves, will be launched on a national scale on Sept. 25, Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, chairman of the national speakers' bureau, announced today.

Senator Lawrence D. Tyson of Tennessee will open a speaking tour in North Carolina Sept. 24, 25 and 26, moving into West Virginia the next three days, and into Kentucky, Oct 1, 2 and 3.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland will be the principal speaker at a huge Democratic rally in Chicago Oct. 10.

CHURCHMEN SCORE 2 RUNS IN SEVENTH TO DEFEAT LODGE TEAM

Three Costly Errors Settles Fate of Losers; Gruber Goes Good

By KARL R. McELROY
Sports Editor, The Star

As one of those wise eggs said a couple of thousand years ago "'tis a dark night that does nobody good," so it was last night at Lincoln Park when Calvary defeated the Eagles in a little world series contest that will go down in Marion sport history as a classic.

Not that Calvary did not deserve the 3 to 2 victory over the lodgemen, it was probably a 50-50 split as far as advantages went with the churchmen getting the biggest half.

The contest was settled in the seventh inning when Calvary, aided by two errors and darkness, scored two runs to overcome the Eagles' lead and win the fray.

First Defeat for Eagles

It was the first time this season that the Eagles have tasted from the cup of defeat. And it was a bitter taste at that with Calvary taking the edge in the series for the championship cup of Marion.

None too bright a day to start with, it was getting pretty dark when the contest entered the seventh frame with the score tied at one-all.

The Eagles opened up with a flock of hits with Andrews leading off with a single. He was scored by Fogle's long two bagger into centerfield. The run set Eagle fans wild and it looked as though the great Calvary team was in last going to be defeated.

However the fans figured recklessly and without calling a crystal gazer and a fortune teller. Gruber got the breaks as the leadoff man lauding on first when Price muffed a fly in center. He advanced on A. Baldauf's single and, when Rice heaved wild to first on Nejmeyer's drive down second, tied up the score at two all.

Robertson Wins Game

With one man down and Baldauf on third, stock in the Eagles rose as W. Baldauf flied out to short. This time fans failed to reckon with Robertson who crashed out a long drive into center field that was good for a home run. However, only one run was needed to win the game and it was scored by A. Baldauf.

It was a great game all the way through in which the best fielding team won. The Eagles made three

EIGHT HIGH SCHOOLS WILL PLAY IN NEW HEART OF OHIO LOOP

Richwood and LaRue Entered in Football Loop of District

WITH eight teams from LaRue, Forest, Salem, Woodstock, Mechanicsburg, Plain City, DeGraff and Richwood entered, the Heart of Ohio high school football league will function for the first time this season since its conception several years ago.

Every effort to promote keen rivalry is being made by officials of the league. Standings will be published weekly and the winner will be offered a large trophy. All teams entered in the loop are rivals of long standing.

A football league has been talked about in this section for some time but at a meeting held last spring the talk took actual form when a constitution and by laws were adopted. E. D. Maurice, superintendent of schools at LaRue, was named secretary and treasurer and Superintendent Callahan of Woodstock will head the loop as president.

The LaRue high school team has started workouts in preparation for the opening of the season under the direction of Coach "Dinty" Moore. The Marion county school will have one of the heaviest teams in the league and are looking forward to a highly successful season.

The LaRue schedule follows:
Sept. 21—Waynesfield at LaRue.
Sept. 28—Raymond there.
Oct. 5—Richwood at LaRue.
Oct. 12—Woodstock there.
Oct. 19—Open.
Oct. 26—Mechanicsburg at LaRue.
Nov. 2—Open.
Nov. 9—Richwood there.
Nov. 16—Forest at LaRue.
Nov. 23—Urbana there.
Nov. 29—DeCliff there.

OVER 100 HORSES TO RACE ON SPEED CARD OF FAIR THIS WEEK

Thursday Is Big Day with Four Events; Wednesday To Open Program

WITH 96 horses already entered in 10 races, the Marion county fair race card promises to be one of the most attractive offered here in a number of years.

When the first race is run Wednesday afternoon the number of trotters and pacers that will take part in the week's speed program will number well over 100.

Several changes have been made in the card it was announced here today. One race was added to the program Thursday making four races for that day.

A three-year old classified trot was substituted for the 2:16 trot Wednesday. This race is open to all three-year-olds and younger horses and others not having won a race.

The 2:16 trot will be the opening race on the program Thursday. The 2:12 pace was changed into a three-year-old classified pace.

One change was made in the three events Friday, the closing day of the meet. A 2:12 pace was substituted for the 2:14 pace.

Dr. N. Sifrit, Marion, will act as presiding judge and Vic Peters will be the starter. All races will be called at 12:30 o'clock and will be run on the three heat plan.

The compete program follows:

WEDNESDAY

Class	Purse
3 year old classified trot	$300
2:22 pace	$350
2:16 pace	$400

THURSDAY

GIANTS WITHIN THREE GAMES OF LEADING ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

Eight Frays in Four Days Will Be Test for New Yorkers

BY LES CONKLIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—Encouraged by the third straight defeat of the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals, the New York Giants today braced themselves for one of the toughest hurdles that ever confronted a pennant contender. On the heels of yesterday's double bill in Boston, they must play three more double-headers with the Braves today, tomorrow and Thursday. Eight games in four successive days will test the New York hurlers to the limit.

The two victories over the Braves yesterday put the Giants within three games of the Cards and only one point behind the second-place Cubs. After Fitzsimmons had won a 4 to 1 duel from Bob Smith, Joe Genewich held his former mates to three hits and whitewashed them 11 to 0.

Kenneth Ash, Cincinnati rookie, stymied the Cards, 7 to 2. The Reds chased Flint Rhem and Sylvester Johnson. Three double plays by the Cincy outfit gave them a total of 174 for the season. This tied the National league record and is within eight of the American league mark.

The Pirates, fighting desperately to reach the leaders, outslugged the Cubs, 7 to 5, in a wild game in which eight pitchers were used. Burleigh Grimes mopped up for the Bucs and was credited with his twenty third victory.

The salitary slants of Red Faber damped the spirits of the Tigers as the White Sox negotiated a 6 to 4 triumph for their ninth win in 10 starts.

Believe it or not, the Red Sox won a season's series. The Bostonese made it 13 victories in 22 games with Washington by taking the final contest, 5 to 2.

The Browns downed Cleveland, 5 to 3, and Brooklyn split a twin bill with the Phillies.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE

In pursuance of an order of the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio made in Cause No. 10,051, I will offer for sale at public auction at the west door of the Court House in the City of Marion, Ohio, on the sixth day of October, A. D. 1928, at 2:00 o'clock P. M., the following described real estate:

Situated in the County of Marion, in the State of Ohio, and in the Township of Grand and bounded and described as follows: Being the southwest quarter of Section 32 Township 4, South Range 13 in the District of Lands subject to sale at Bucyrus, Ohio, containing 160 acres, more or less. Excepting therefrom ten acres lying in the form of a square out of the northeast corner of said tract, said ten acres having been sold to Samuel McWade (See Deed Records of Marion County Ohio, Volume 43, page 184). Leaving in said tract 150 acres, more or less owned by said William Burbaugh at the time of his decease. Appraised at $10,650.00

Said real estate is located on the north side of the Harding Highway about one mile and a quarter east of the Hardin County Line. Also, the following described real estate:

Situated in the County of Marion and State of Ohio, and in the Village of LaRue and being the undivided one-half interest in Lots Nos. 147 and 148 in Hopkins and Leonard's Addition to the Village of LaRue, Ohio. Said undivided half interest being appraised a $818.67.

Said real estate is located on the north side of School Street in said Village and next to the LaRue-Marseilles Pike.

The owners of the other undivided one-half interest will execute and deliver a deed for their share to the purchaser of the said half interest, for the same price.

Terms of sale, Cash.

JOHN C. BURBAUGH,
Executor of the last Will and Testament of William Burbaugh, deceased
Clark and Arter, His Attorneys.

WE want agents and crew managers everywhere to work in exclusive territory selling the Anti Pyro chemical compound fire extinguishers to auto owners, garages, filling stations, homes, factories, and retail merchants. Retails for only $2.50 each. Everyone knows the danger of not having a good fire extinguisher handy at all times, and our low price of only $2.50 opens up an entirely new field never before possible and there are millions and millions of potential prospective buyers needing this protection. As a starter, we will ship prepaid, one dozen extinguishers on receipt of your money order for $15 and include, free of charge, an extra one for your own use and demonstration. You should be able to sell this dozen in one day, making $15 profit for yourself. After this first dozen has been sold if you would like to take exclusive charge of one or more counties and organize a crew of agents working for you, we will furnish you, as a crew manager, extinguishers at a price of only $10 per dozen. You sell agents at $15 per dozen. Twelve agents working for you and selling only 3 dozen per week will earn you $180 per week. Crew managers are protected on all extinguishers sold and agents secured in his territory from our own advertising. This is your big opportunity to get into an exclusive and profitable business of your own and one that can be operated from your own home with no overhead expense. Send $15 today for your first dozen and state counties you want reserved. Anti Pyro Extinguisher Company, 811 Williamson Bldg., Cleveland, O.

THE FIRST STEP—In buying a home, first select your realtor. Don't consult a curb stone broker. Go to the office of a reliable realtor, or ask him to come to your home. If a stranger here, ask your neighbor, your banker, your employer, which they recommend for careful consideration of your needs and wishes, experienced, dependable and capable.

Seven Per Cent Loan Rate Disappears, Stocks Advance

SUPPLY OF OUTSIDE MONEY AIDS MARKET

Theatrical Issues Continue To Climb in Active Trading

U. S. STEEL RECOVERS

Studebaker Leads Motors with New High at 82½

BY W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

New York, Sept. 11—Most of the traces of the seven per cent time loan rate and the pinch in the call loan market had disappeared by the noon period today, and the industrial stocks were ready to resume. Their aggressive forward movement, under the lead of the motors, mercantile stocks and specialties. United States Steel common won back all of yesterday's losses and scored an additional gain of a point or two, and new advances were recorded for a number of the old favorites, including Montgomery Ward, Nickel, General Electric and Studebaker.

With approximately $2,000,000,000 in government and corporation financing to accomplish before Saturday, and increasing calls for crop-moving money, the banks were not in a position to extend their loans in the call money market. But outside money loaning sources came forward readily, attracted by the unusually high rates now offered for demand collateral loans. After a half hour or so of irregular price movements, caused by a heavy influx of overnight selling orders, the market threw off the effects of tight money and resumed its strong advance.

The theatrical stocks moved upward aggressively in active trading, Warner Brothers climbing six points to 137 and Fox Film three to 118, with more modest gains in Pathe, Keith, Consolidated and other stocks in this group. Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck showed conclusively that they had not yet completed their sensational movement, the former reaching a new high at 260. Studebaker took the palm for the popular motor shares, with its rapid turnover on the road to 82 1-2, the highest price of the year. Corn Products rose four points to 87 1-2.

Large Supply of Peaches from Lake Area Arrives at Local Market Stands

Several Dealers Rent Vacant Store Rooms To Handle Sale of Surplus Stock; Abundant Supply Expected To Continue at Least Until End of Week

Lake peaches flooded the fruit stands of Marion produce markets today, selling at various prices from $1.88 to $2.75 a bushel.

The poorest grade was the most prominent in the sales yesterday. So great was the supply that several of the produce markets opened vacant store rooms in the uptown district for the sole purpose of handling the peach sale.

Continued abundance of the lake peaches on the local markets until the end of the week at least, was forecast by the local dealers today. Some of the retail dealers, not wanting to depend entirely on the supply of the wholesale dealers, bought entire orchard outputs in the lake region and transported the fruit themselves.

The sweet corn season is nearly at an end, according to an announcement of dealers today. Some dealers were not selling any of the late supplies of the corn today while others were quoting a poor grade at 20 cents a dozen. The last supply of the season is expected to appear on the markets at the end of this week.

Home-grown grapes made their appearance on the stands today and sold at 15 cents a pound. The supply was small but dealers expect a gradual increase daily. Growers in the vicinity of Marion report a good crop of grapes.

First indication of an advance in the price of bananas was noted on the fruit stands today. Report of a scarcity of the fruit in the tropics came to retail dealers today from wholesale men. The price of bananas held steady at three pounds for 25 cents in most of the local markets, today.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 11—The government September crop report furnished something like a sensation in its figures estimating the corn crop. They place it at 2,931,000,000 bushels.

That is plenty of corn, to be sure—155,000,000 above the five-year average—but the estimate is about 100,000,000 bushels under the estimate a month ago, and less than the smallest private estimate.

The wheat crop was estimated at 901,000,000 bushels, an increase over last month's average.

The effect on the corn market this morning will undoubtedly be bullish at the outset at least. Wheat may be little influenced.

The corn figures, although undoubtedly accurate mathematically, will not impress a good many in the trade that a true picture of the yield possibilities of the crop is presented.

It is well to remember, as has frequently been suggested here, that crop reporting is simply a system of guessing founded on statistics of averages, with no basis for correctness in the science of botany. It is the best method there is, and that's all that can be said about it.

Grains Closed Lower

At the close wheat was 1-4c to 5-8c lower; corn was unchanged to 1-2c lower; oats were 1-8c lower to 3-8c higher; rye was down 1 1-4c to 1 1-2c.

Both wheat and corn held remarkably steady during most of the session and both markets at the end of the day showed good upturns from bottom prices.

The strength appeared to be due largely to short covering which went on in volume from the top of the opening gong. The trade was uneasy about what effect the government report might have, and shorts were prone on paper in many cases decided to take them rather than to stay short overnight.

Wheat opened generally higher than the closing prices on Saturday. It was the start off which was reminiscent of a jumping to buy, that put a crimp on selling that might have come into the pit on a weak opening.

Plot to Overthrow Spanish Government is Disclosed

STRICT CENSORSHIP HAS BEEN IMPOSED

More Than 1,000 Arrests Made Throughout Spain, It Is Said

MANY SOLDIERS TAKEN

Jails Filled with Prisoners; Gen. Lopez Ochoa Held

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 11—The Spanish police have discovered a nationwide plot for the overthrow of the Spanish government, according to information received over the Spanish frontier this afternoon.

The plot centered at Saragosa where several hundred arrests were made. Saragosa police discovered details of the conspiracy early this morning and immediately notified Madrid.

Similar plots, all linked together by the same conspirators, were discovered throughout Spain.

A strict government censorship has been imposed upon all news relating to the plot.

It is reported that more than 1,000 arrests have been made throughout Spain since daybreak.

Among those arrested at Saragosa were many soldiers in the garrison.

320 Arrests in Madrid

In Madrid 320 arrests were made, including the noted Republican leaders, Alvero Albornoz Martinez and Dalimgo Jiminez Siles.

All the communists delegates to the general labor union congress were arrested at Madrid.

According to the police, military men labor leaders and republican leaders were involved.

It was described as the most dangerous plot that has menaced the Spanish government for many years.

Filled With Prisoners

In many cities the jails were filled with prisoners within a few hours. All the prisoners were charged with complicity in the revolutionary conspiracy.

Hundreds of arrests were made at Barcelona, which has long been a hotbed of revolutionary plotting. Among the prisoners lodged in the Barcelona jail was Brig Gen Lopez Ochoa, who was to have led the anti-government outbreak in Catalonia. Brigadier General Ochoa was described as one of the bitterest political enemies of General Primo De Rivera in Spain. General De Rivera is head of the government, a post he has held for five years since he proclaimed himself dictator.

EAGLES LOSE SERIES CONTEST TO CALVARY

Two Runs in Seventh Inning Give Churchmen Game

errors that really cost them the game. Calvary was chalked up with one misplay which resulted in one run being scored.

Bacon failed to show the control he displayed against Epworth Juniors earlier in the series. He struck out one man and allowed eight hits, all of which were well scattered. He issued three free tickets to first.

Gruber Goes Good

Gruber's hurling stood out a little bit better as the Calvary pitcher allowed only four hits. Two of these were bunched in the seventh to score a run. He fanned one player and issued two passes.

Throughout the contest Calvary showed the results of several years' playing together. Their teamwork was almost perfect and there was no doubt but what the better team won last night.

Wednesday night the Eagles will take on the C., D. & M. nine in a contest that will eliminate one of the two. The Eagles are favored to win and in case they do a real battle is anticipated. Friday night when the Calvary team is played again. In case the Eagles should go through the balance of the scheduled series victorious an extra game would be necessary to decide the championship of Marion.

AUDITOR COMPLETES YEAR'S TAX REPORT

Additional Certifications of Collection Made to Various Districts

An additional certification, completing the record of 1927 taxes to the various taxing districts in the county, has been made by County Auditor Earl E. Thomas as representative of the county budget commission. The certification just made supplements the estimated certification made to the taxing districts on Jan. 1. The additional certification is made, according to Auditor Thomas, following the June tax collection when the exact amount of money due each district can be computed.

At a meeting of city council last night a report of the additional certification to be received by Marion city was accepted.

Additional certifications were made in all of the funds.

The additional certification in the general fund for the year was $17,143.01. The actual collection for the fund was $215,343.01 and the estimated certification was set at $197,200.

The largest addition was made in the bond retirement fund. The added certification in that fund was $31,721.18. The actual collection was $251,921.18 and the estimated certification was $220,200.

A sum of 291.35 was given as the additional certification in the firemen's indemnity fund. The actual collection was $3,441.35 and the estimated amount was $3,150.

No estimated certification was made in the special assessment fund. The actual collections in that fund were $136,620.03. The additional certification was drawn up for the same amount.

GOES TO POLLS TODAY

Seattle, Wash, Sept. 11—Washington voters went to the polls today to select nominees for congressional state and county offices. Three Republicans are contesting for a United States senatorial nomination, Mikes Poindexter, Kenneth Mackintosh and Austin E. Griffiths the successful candidate to oppose either C. C. Dill or James C. Longstreet from the Democratic list. Dill is looked upon as the favorite and it is expected he will oppose either Poindexter or Mackintosh in the November elections.

When one bright man outshines another in repartee, the lesser light is soon so discouraged he refuses to shine at all.

CENSUS BOOSTED

Births Outnumber Deaths in Country Nearly Three to One

Birth certificates received at the office of Dr. N. Sifritt, county health commissioner, for the month of August nearly tripled the total of death certificates, according to a report completed today. The report records the births of 20 babies outside Marion city and the death of seven persons in the same territory.

Cancer claimed four persons during the last month. Arterio sclerosis, organic heart disease and cholera infantum claimed one victim each.

Two deaths occurred in Prospect and one each in Caledonia and Pleasant, Big Island, Prospect, and Bowling Green townships.

Among the new arrivals, boys led girls nearly two to one. Thirteen boys and seven girls were born.

The population of Green Camp, LaRue and Martel villages and Scott, Pleasant and Richland townships was increased by two new arrivals in each township. One birth each was recorded in Caledonia, Morral and Prospect villages and Big Island, Grand, Salt Rock, Prospect and Tully townships.

GRAND JURY OPENS FALL COURT TERM

Convenes This Morning; Expected To Complete Session Today

The Marion county grand jury opening the September term of court convened this morning and is expected to complete its session late this afternoon, according to Prosecuting Attorney Frank Wiedemann.

The jury met to consider eight cases. The petit jury for the present court term will be called next Monday.

Partition Suit Filed

Suit for partition of real estate located in Marion has been filed in common pleas court by William Bolander against George W. Bolander, Stella Bolander, Harry Bolander, Minnie Bolander, Walter Bolander, Earl Bolander, Bertha Bolander, Edward Bolander, Nellie Bolaner, Bertha Boyer and Arthur Boyer.

The plaintiff is represented by Attorney Louis E. Myers.

Sues for Divorce

Scott E. Donaldson has filed suit in common pleas court for divorce from Bess Donaldson. He charges gross neglect for three years. According to the petition they were married at Jeromeville, Nov. 17, 1909. There are no children. Attorney Louis E. Myers represents the plaintiff.

Licenses Issued

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples in probate court Saturday:

Emery Rodgers, 25, mechanic, and Helen Holderfield, 21, both of Marion.

Clarence Clement, 24, crane operator, and Jessie Chim, 24 cigar roller, both of Marion.

Cecil Otis Somerlot, 34, clerk, and Margaret Louise Tower, 27, bookkeeper, both of Marion.

CONTEST WINNER:

Roland L. Leeper, service manager of the Marion County Farm bureau, has been awarded a three day outing at Russell Point on Indian Lake as a result of high production of farm automobile insurance during a recent contest among Farm bureau employes of the state.

MINISTER PREACHES FAREWELL SERMON

Rev. E. L. Holliday Concludes Local Pastorate; Leaves for Lorain

REV. E. L. HOLLIDAY

After preaching his farewell sermon before a congregation which filled the auditorium last night at Emmanuel Baptist church, the recent pastor, the Rev. Earl L. Holliday, left early this morning for his new home at Lorain, O., accompanied by Mrs. Holliday and their daughter, Martha.

Mr. Holliday's last sermon here was on the subject, "Christ." The address referred to three parts of the Savior's life: Christ the person, Christ's passion and His purpose in coming into the world—for salvation of sinners. Before beginning to preach Mr. Holliday thanked members of the congregation for their co-operation and assistance during his five years of ministry here.

The Rev. S. F. Porter, of Prospect, who arrives Wednesday to become pastor of Emmanuel church, was heard in a vocal solo, "Go," accompanied at the piano by Miss Virginia Repair.

Mr. Holliday will assume his duties as pastor of First Baptist church, Lorain, with services next Sunday.

AUTO LICENSE SALES LISTED FOR AUGUST

Revenue in County Amounts to $1,224, Auditor Reports

One hundred and seventy-seven sets of automobile licenses were issued to residents of Marion during the month of August, according to a report completed today by County Auditor Earl E. Thomas. The city's revenue from the sales was $446.32.

Two hundred and thirty-four sets were issued in the entire county during the month, the report shows. The total revenue amounted to $1,224.06. Of this amount one-half went to the state.

Outside the incorporated cities and villages 45 pairs of tags were issued. The revenue for the various districts was $106.05. Prospect village ranked next with seven sets. The revenue was $41.01. Three pairs were issued in Caledonia for an income of $14.66. The two sets issued in LaRue brought the village an income of $4.

Special Meetings — Three special meetings of members of Sojourners lodge, No. 653, Free and Accepted Masons, were announced today by Dr. B. L. Wallace, secretary. The entered apprentice degree will be conferred Wednesday night, Sept. 12, fellowcraft, Tuesday night, Sept. 18, and master mason, Wednesday night, Sept. 26. 250 INCREASE REGISTERED IN SCHOOL TOTAL

SECOND DAY REPORT

Advance in Attendance Reported as Largest in Last Five Years

More than 6,450 Marion boys and girls were enrolled in their classes today, the second day of the school year, according to attendance reports from the Marion Public and St. Mary's Parochial schools.

Enrollment in the Marion public schools today totaled 5,980 pupils, an increase of 240 over the second day of school last year. This was said to be the largest yearly increase on record here for over a five-year period. The total of the parochial school was 478, an increase of 10 pupils over the opening last year.

The total enrollment of the public schools, 5,980, included 918 Harding high students, 1,046 junior high students, and 4,016 grade students. Total enrollment of St. Mary's school in cludes 113 high school students and 365 grade school students.

Parochial Increase

The 10-pupil increase in enrollment at St. Mary's school was in the high school, despite the fact that the senior class, which numbers 20 students, is slightly smaller than the graduating class last year.

The increase in Harding high school enrollment this year over the second day of school last year was 38, while 202 more grade and junior high school students are enrolled this year than were in school the second day last year.

While enrollment in the public school this year was 240 more than at the same time last year, a year ago only 110 more pupils were enrolled than the year before, and records three years ago showed only a 74-pupil increase, four years ago an eight pupil increase and five years ago a 138 pupil increase.

Building Reports

The enrollment for the various schools is as follows: Harding high, 918 students; Central Junior high, 660; Oakland Heights, 521; Silver, 515; Glenwood, 449; Vernon Heights Junior high, 386; Mark street, 306; Olney avenue, 303; State, 302; Oak, 295; Forest Lawn, 287; Greenwood, 283; Pearl, 283; Lincoln, 252; Davids, 113 and North Main, 107.

Two new teachers were added to the teaching staff of the parochial school, which numbers in all 13 religious teachers and one lay teacher, Mrs. Mary Maxwell, who succeeds Mrs. Clara Nash.

OFFICIAL ADVOCATES MUNICIPAL ABATTOIR

Plan for Inspection of Animals Slaughtered for Market Outlined by Gruber

Construction of a municipal slaughter house in Marion where inspections of meat could be made before it is placed on sale, was advocated by Dr. J. T. Gruber, city milk and meat inspector, at city council meeting last night.

Dr. Gruber stressed the importance of making official examination of animals slaughtered for the meat markets. He declared that it would be impossible to make inspections under present conditions, as slaughtering is done in different parts of the county.

According to his plans as presented to council, all slaughterings of animals for the local markets would be conducted at the municipal abattoir. There the animals could be inspected for disease before they are killed and the meat could be examined before it is placed on the market, he stated.

A report of a recent meat inspection in which examination was made of 72 places in the city where meat is sold, was read by Dr. Gruber to the council. Fifty-eight grocery stores, 12 meat markets, one wholesale meat market and one abattoir were included in the inspection. His report revealed that 272 pounds of meat were condemned and ordered disposed of in five of the places inspected.

Hassell and Parker in More Thrills As Boat Sinks

Copenhagen, Sept. 11—George Hassell and Parker Cramer, the Rockford-to-Sweden fliers whose attempt ended on the wastelands of Greenland, were today aboard a small steamer enroute from Godthaab, Greenland, to Ivigtut, farther down the coast, where they will board a steamer for Denmark, according to radio advices received by the Greenland administration department here.

Hassell and Cramer, together with four members of the University of Michigan expedition to Greenland led by Prof. William F. Hobbs, experienced the thrills of an arctic shipwreck when a motorboat taking them to Holstenborg struck a rock and sank at the mouth of Sinistwa Fjord. All were rescued.

Paul Revere Role Taken By Flier; Spreads Fire Alarm

CLEVELAND, Sept. 11—The Paul Revere of the skies makes his appearance today in the person of William "Wild Bill" Hopson, air mail pilot of the Chicago-New York air route.

While making his regular trip last night Hopson discovered that a barn was on fire in Warrensville Heights village, on the outskirts of Cleveland. The blaze threatened several homes nearby and no one, apparently, was aware of it. The aviator swooped down and flew back and forth at a low altitude over the village until he awakened one of the residents who spread the alarm.

Zanesville City Council Approves Bond Issue for Site

ZANESVILLE, Sept. 11 — Approval of a $15,000 bond issue to purchase a 155-acre site for Zanesville's proposed municipal airport was on record here today following last night's meeting of city council.

The approval of council for the airport bond issue paves the way for another bond issue of $45,000 with which it is proposed to equip the airport.

THREE INDICTED IN REPORT OF GRAND JURORS

Five Cases Ignored in Session Opening Marion County Court Term

Out of eight cases considered, the grand jury which yesterday opened the September term of common pleas court here returned three indictments and ignored five cases.

True bills were returned against Joseph White, Kermett Kunkle and David Courtney.

The indictment against White charges him with breaking into Likens chapel, northeast of Marion, and stealing dishes belonging to the congregation of the church. Kunkle was indicted on a charge of stealing an automobile belonging to Max Yarrington. Failure to pay for the keeping of the children in the Marion County Childrens home was the charge on which Courtney was indicted.

Mahaffey Case Ignored

The grand jury ignored the case of John Mahaffey, who was arrested several weeks ago on a charge of shooting with intent to kill. The cases of Allen Christ and Earl Armstrong, alleged to be companions of Kunkle when the Yarrington car was stolen, and E. E. Mason, charged with issuing checks without funds, were also ignored.

The three persons indicted will be arraigned before Judge George B. Scofield, Saturday, when dates for their trials will be set for those who enter pleas of not guilty. Those entering pleas of guilty will be sentenced by Judge Scofield probably when arraigned.

The petit jury for the September term of court will meet next Monday.

EARL ROWLAND WINS CLASS A CONTEST

Officials Check Elapsed Time of Racers in Air Derby

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 11—Officials of the national air races, now in progress here, today were checking the elapsed time of the contestants in the Class A New York-to-Los Angeles air derby.

Earl Rowland, who brought his Cessna monoplane down at Mines field at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, is in all probability the winner of the $5,000 first prize. He led the field practically all the way from New York. He said today that he believed his flying time was approximately 22 hours.

After the planes arrived here they were lined up in two long rows before the grandstand, and the pilots and mechanics, plainly shoging the effects of their arduous cross-country flight, were escorted to the microphone. Most of them were content simply to say, "We are glad to be here."

ANSWERS SMITH

Says Finances of State Misrepresented By Governor

Washington, Sept. 11—Under Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills today assailed Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, Democratic presidential candidate, for alleged misrepresentation of the financial condition of the state of New York.

Mills was replying to charges by Smith that he (Mills) had also misrepresented New York state finances by the statement "that the huge increase in resources due to prosperity had been applied under Governor Smith neither to tax reduction nor to debt reduction, but spent."

Mills asserted that when Smith became governor for the second time the net state debt in 1922 was $181,000,000, and that by 1928 it had grown to over $236,000,000.

TWO MINISTERS RETURNED TO CHARGES HERE

Dr. B. L. George and Rev. George Whitlock Are Reappointed

YEISLEY LEAVES KENTON

Prospect Gets New Pastor; Green Camp Man Is Reappointed

Both Dr. B. L. George, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, and Rev George Whitlock, pastor of Wesley M E. church, were reappointed to their charges here at the closing session of the Ohio conference of the M. E. church this morning at Springfield.

Dr. George is returning here for his fourth consecutive year and Mr. Whitlock for his second year. Dr. George came here to succeed Dr. Jesse Swank of Dayton, four years ago, after he had resigned a Middletown pastorate.

Dr. George returned from conference this noon and Mr. Whitlock, Saturday. Dr. J. D. Darling, a former pastor of Wesley M. E. church, also attended from here.

The following assignments were made for churches of nearby communities: Prospect, C. W. Sultsbach from South Charleston; Bellefontaine, Daniel N. Kelly from Zanesville; Green Camp, Cloyce Copley; Richwood, W. A. Deaton from Milford; Wapakoneta, C. J. Yeisley from Kenton.

FLIER FATALLY HURT WHEN PLANE CRASHES

Lieutenant Williams Flying Upside Down as His Engine Stalls

Los Angeles, Sept. 11—Lieutenant J. J. Williams, 25, of Moad, Utah, army stunt aviator, died at a Culver City hospital early today from injuries received when his plane crashed during the national air races here yesterday.

The army pilot was flying upside-down trying to outstunt the famous "Seahawks" of the navy when his engine stalled. The plane sideslipped and crashed to the field directly in front of the grandstand.

The pilot was wedged in the cockpit and was unconscious when removed from the wreckage of the plane.

Lieutenant Williams with Lieutenants Woodring and Cornelius comprised the army's first pursuit group from Selfridge Field, Michigan. They came to the national air races to compete with the navy in stunt flying.

FIRST CUT RATE CABS ON STREETS IN CLEVELAND

Cleveland, Sept. 11—The first of Cleveland's cut rate taxi-cabs, operating in competition with several long established taxi companies, appeared on the streets today. Police have been cautioned to guard against violence between the competing companies. The new cabs, known as Nickel Taxis, charge a five cent flagging toll and five cents for every quarter mile thereafter. The older companies have charged 25 cents for flagging and 10 cents for every two-fifths mile.

COOPER IN TOLEDO

Columbus, Sept. 11—Myers Y. Cooper, Republican nominee for governor, is to confer tomorrow at Toledo with city and Lucas county G. O. P. leaders and to address a meeting of the National Music Merchants' Association there, Charles D Simeral, chairman of the speakers' bureau at Republican state headquarters, announced today.

GARDINER AND HALE SWEPT TO MAINE VICTORY

Republicans Swamp Democrats in State; Majorities Overwhelming

DEMOCRATS NOT WORRIED

Foresee No Defeat Ahead Despite Old Political Adage

Portland, Me., Sept 11—With 544 precincts complete out of the state's 633 William Tudor Gardiner today had been elected governor of Maine over Edward C Moran Jr. Democratic candidate, by a majority that was expected to exceed 80,000 with complete returns. The vote was Gardiner, 138,360, Moran, 62,919.

Senator Frederick Hale was assured of reelection over his Democratic opponent, Herbert E. Holmes with the same number of precincts in by 134,908 votes to 60,745.

Near the overwhelming Republican majorities, the sharp decline in the Democratic vote and Hale's close follow of Gardiner's lead were the features of the election. Republicans won all along the line by a vote of more than two to one.

These returns include the city of Portland complete. Incomplete returns from other precincts indicate a total Republican majority of more than 80,000.

Curtis Not Surprised

Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican vice presidential candidate, who campaigned in Maine, declared the result was important because it showed the "sentiment of the people."

"I am not surprised" he declared "The majority is a little higher than I thought it would be. The result simply shows the trend of the sentiment of the people toward the Republican party."

Democrats were not discouraged. They pointed out that Maine is as solidly Republican as the south is Democratic, and foresaw no defeat ahead in November for the National ticket despite the old political adage that "As Maine Goes, So Goes the Nation."

MAINE VICTORY HAILED BY G. O. P.

Washington, Sept. 11—Republicans hailed with glee today the result of the Maine election.

They said the psychological effect of the record Republican vote would prove a material boon to the Hoover-Curtis ticket in other normally Republican states throughout the country.

To accomplish this purpose national headquarters sent some of its biggest guns into Maine to help the state candidates.

HALT APPOINTMENT

Denver Prohibition Officer Seeks To Adjust His Status

Washington, Sept. 11—The appointment of John L. Youngblood as assistant prohibition administrator at Denver has been held up temporarily pending an effort by John C. Richardson, the incumbent, to bring about a satisfactory adjustment of the latter's status by the civil service commission.

Richardson, the treasury announced today, failed to qualify under civil service requirements. Commissioner J. M. Doran said Richardson had been a satisfactory officer, and considerable pressure is being brought to bear to keep him in the service. Youngblood's appointment was announced here, but the papers still remain on Doran's desk.

SPLIT ENDS

Crusading Publisher Joins "Regular" Republican Ranks in Indiana

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 11—Bitter warfare that has split the Indiana Republican party for two years appeared to have come to an end with today the announcement by Thomas H. Adams, crusading publisher of the Vincennes, Ind., Commercial, that he would support both national and state tickets of the G. O. P.

The "bad boy" of the Hoosier G. O. P. has put aside the slingshot of his crusading and will march in the "regular" Republican ranks in support of Harry G. Leslie for governor, the man whom in the primary race for governor, he denounced with charges that Leslie as speaker of the house of representatives, blocked the proposed legislative investigation of political corruption.

Hoar, New Philadelphia, of the middle east district Mrs. Earl B Padgett, Galion, of the middle north district; Mrs. B. W. Jones, Troy, of the middle west district, Mrs. E. L. McKelvey, Youngstown, of the northeast district; Mrs. Beecher Moke, Lima, of the northwest district; Mrs. D. B. Hattinger, Middleport, of the southeast district, and Mrs. R. W. Solomon, Middletown, of the southwest district.

FUNERAL HELD TODAY FOR SLAIN GANGSTER

Gangland and Police Rub Shoulders as Throngs View Body of Lombardo

Chicago, Sept. 11—Gangland and police rubbed shoulders today at the funeral here of Tony Lombardo, slain lieutenant of "Scarface Al" Capone.

Gangland, including Capone and his picked bodyguard of gunmen, was there—watching and waiting for the strangers who, according to gangland's grapeline telegraph, are in Chicago to accomplish their ultimate aim, the death of the underworld's greatest chieftain, Capone.

Police, at least a hundred strong, mingled with the crowd of swarthy Italians, gaudy dressed women, politicians and the "common people" who had turned out to witness the greatest funeral since that of Dion O'Bannion.

It was a holiday crowd. Rain which threatened all morning, came down in showers but the milling thousands outside the modest brick bungalow Lombardo had built for his wife and two small children, refused to leave the scene. Men hung in little groups, their hands held in suspiciously bulging pockets. All strangers were scrutinized carefully, even rudely.

VENDETTA VICTIMS

Pittsburgh, Sept. 11—Believed to have been the victims of a Vendetta, Thomas Curcio, 42, of Sewickley, head of the Sons of Italy Society of Sewickley valley, and Nick Bartolotto, 37, were found shot to death today on Curcio's farm in Sewickley Heights near here, police reported. County detectives immediately launched an investigation.

STEPS TAKEN FOR PURCHASE OF 140 ACRES

Action on $12,600 Appropriation Expected at Meeting Tonight

LEGISLATION ORDERED

Proposed 105-Acre Field Rejected as Too Small; Adjoining Land Chosen

An agreement which is expected to result in selection and purchase of an airport site for the city of Marion was reached at an executive session of city council following its regular session at city hall, last night.

According to reports of the executive session, council decided to abandon plans for purchase of the 105-acre tract west of the city originally proposed for the landing field and to buy, instead, 140 acres located directly south of the 105.

City Solicitor George T. Geran was instructed by the council to draw up necessary legislation for appropriation of $12,600 for purchase of the 140 acre plot. The new ordinance is expected to be passed at an adjourned meeting of the council to be held at 7 o'clock tonight.

Preparations for purchase of the 140-acre tract were made following the decision to drop the proposal for the purchase of the 105-acre field for which $7,000 was recently appropriated.

Reasons for Change

Belief that the 105 acres would not be sufficient for the needs of the city in the future was given as the cause for the decision of the council in dropping the proposal for that tract. The ordinance providing for the appropriation of the $7,000 for buying the site will likely be repealed at the adjourned session tonight, officials state.

The council reached the decision that the 105 acres would not make an ample field for Marion's airport on an investigating tour of the site last week. Considering the fact that the field would have to be tiled for drainage and several sections would have to be filled in to level off the ground for airplane landing, the council abandoned the purchase proposal.

An immediate decision on the proposal for purchase of the land was made necessary following the report of John H Clark, attorney for the executors of the Ezra Campbell estate, which owns the 105-acre tract. In a statement to council last night Clark gave the council until midnight tonight to purcase or reject the field.

Prompt Action Necessary

Stating that the executors of the estate believed that ample time had been given council in which to buy the land, Clark made prompt action necessary.

The option on the land to the city, according to Clark, was granted in an unwritten agreement between the executors of the estate and R. E. Prettyman, chairman of the airport committee of the council. He stated in his report last night that another buyer was in the market for the field and that the executors were attempting to close up

Cast for County Fair Play Will Hold Final Rehearsal Tonight

Final rehearsal for the historical pageant which will be presented on Wednesday and Thursday nights as one of the features of the Marion county fair is to be held at the fairgrounds tonight. The rehearsal will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and will be held in front of the grandstand, where the pageant is to be presented. No one will be admitted to the grandstand tonight, according to directors of the pageant.

The Wednesday and Thursday presentations of the pageant will begin at 8 o'clock. Approximately one and a half hours are required to present the various scenes. More than 300 persons are in the cast, including groups from Marion, Morral, Waldo, Green Camp, Prospect, and Claridon and Pleasant townships.

The pageant opens with a prologue, followed by the creation ballet. The Indian episode, covered wagon scene, an allegorical episode, scenes depicting the first church and first marriage in the county, and the underground railway scene follow in order.

The pageant will close with a scene depicting America as the melting pot of nations and the grand finale which includes the entire cast.

SECOND FILM BEAUTY SOUGHT BY OFFICIALS

Missing Baptist Treasurer Financed Woman's Movie Career, Is Belief

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 11—A second beauty whose film career Clinton M. Carnes, missing treasurer of the Baptist Home Board at Atlanta, Ga., is said to have helped finance, was being sought by Los Angeles police today for questioning in connection with the disappearance of the churchman who is alleged to have embezzled $1,000,000 church funds.

Carnes himself is being hunted in southern California, following the discovery that Sonia Norida, beautiful young Norwegian girl, and protegee of Carnes, was in Hollywood preparing to enter motion pictures.

The second girl, according to police, is Miss Louise Griffin. Advices from Atlanta said that Carnes' private papers showed he had also been financing Miss Griffin's career.

ANTI-SMITH LEADERS BOLT TEXAS MEETING

Delegates Leave Convention Floor When Chieftain Is Refused Recognition

Fair Park Auditorium, Dallas, Texas, Sept. 11—The state Democratic convention was thrown into wild confusion here today when the anti-Smith delegations bolted the convention following the report of the state executive committee's action on contesting delegations yesterday. This report recommended that the anti-Smith delegations from Dallas, Tarrant, Houston, Palo Pinto, Wichita and Bosque counties be denied seats at the convention.

Immediately after Dick Fleming, of Houston, secretary to the state executive committee, read the report, former Gov. O. B. Colquitt, an anti-Smith chieftain, sought recognition from the chair. This was refused him and the anti-Smith delegations jumped to their feet all over the hall, yelling "Goodbye Tammany." Smith followers, in overwhelming majority, countered with: "Throw the Republicans out."

John Coolidge Goes to Work as Clerk; First Task Running Camera Gauntlet

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 11—John Coolidge went to work as a railroad clerk here today. His first task was to run the gauntlet of a dozen cameras manned by newspaper and motion picture photographers. The president's son grinned and flung up the steps of the New Haven road's general headquarters to safety in the long corridors of the building.

Young Coolidge has been assigned to the general manager's office where he will start climbing, if he justifies the expectations of those who gave him the job, to a high executive position.

The first task of the president's son was to handle statistics of the road's traffic. With him are working four Harvard men. Over night he was the guest of Yale men and is staying at the exclusive Graduates' club here.

Into the general manager's office here pour daily a vast amount of statistics concerning operation of the railroad. Into these young Coolidge plunged today under expert guidance. Railroad men say that the office of the general manager is the place where most can be learned about railroading in the shortest space of time.

PETITIONS FILED AT MEETING OF COUNCIL

Paving of Chicago av. Included in Projects Proposed by Citizens

Petitions for construction of a sidewalk on the west side of Nye st., paving of Chicago av. from Center st to Wilson av. and installation of an electric light on Henry st., were presented to city council last night.

A resolution directing the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co., to install the light on Henry st., was passed by the council shortly after the petition was read. It was carried by a unanimous vote. The light will be installed half way between Congress and Buckeye sts.

The petitions for the sidewalk and the street paving were referred to the street and alley committee of council for investigation.

Glorious Health And Life Energy Given This Lady

Alliance, O. Resident Describes How New Konjola Ended Her Suffering.

MRS. ETHA D. INMAN

"I know that Konjola will do. It not only relieved me of stomach trouble, but this medicine also gave me new and glorious health," said Mrs. Etha D. Inman, Homeworth, O. (near Alliance).

"I was so rundown in health that I really did not care what became of me. It seemed that I was dragging myself through life the victim of a disordered inner-system. My stomach was very upset and caused intense suffering after every meal and I never knew a day that I didn't endure miseries from that ailment.

"In a week's time after I started taking Konjola a new feeling of health seemed to come over me. I had more energy and greater vitality. That old tired and worn-out feeling gave way to one of glorious health. My stomach started functioning better than in a long time and food digested so perfectly that I did not suffer the least bit after meals and I know the relief is permanent."

Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this vicinity have told of their experience with this new medical product, until now Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Stump and Sams Pharmacy and is also being sold by all the best druggists throughout this section.—Adv.

Council Authorizes Payment of Expenses in Gas Rate Case

A resolution providing for payment of Marion's part of incidental expenses in the Logan Gas Co. rate case, now pending before the state utilities commission, was passed by city council last night.

The resolution authorized payment of $31 to the Toothaker & Rodenfels Co. for printing the cities' brief, of $59.25 to the Armstrong & Okey Co. for stenographic services. The city auditor was authorized to issue vouchers for the payment of the bills.

Final hearing of the case, in which proposed gas rate increases are protested by Marion and other Ohio cities, was held recently before the state commission. A decision is expected in the near future.

COOLIDGE ON WAY BACK TO CAPITAL

Wisconsin Bids Good-Bye to President; Crowd Braves Heavy Rain

The Presidential Special Eastbound, Washington, Sept. 11—Three generation behind him President Coolidge was on his way back to the capital today. Wednesday morning will find him back at his desk at the executive offices.

The finale of this summer's White House bid goodbye was staged in the early hours of today as the special train started on its way to Chicago from which was made to the Pennsylvania that ultimately will get him to the national capital.

Before he left Mr. Coolidge has returned to the north wood fishing on the Brule river and experimenting with trap shooting. His vacation came to an end last night when he departed from Superior in a heavy rain that failed entirely to prevent an enthusiastic crowd from turning out for his farewell.

To Visit Plymouth

The president's stay in Washington will be comparatively brief for within a week or 10 days he expects to journey to Vermont and there revisit the scenes of his boyhood days at Plymouth. This trip probably will not last longer than a week, before he gets back to his office for good.

No particular problems await Mr Coolidge upon his return, the fact he is stepping out of office next March has done much to relieve the strain of official business and leave him for the most part only with the usual routine.

Stops on the way east today will be of the most perfunctory nature embodying only train inspection and refueling. Several of the towns through which the train passed this morning were rewarded by brief rear platform appearances when the size of the crowd warranted, but speeches were taboo.

Don't attach much importance to a show and you won't criticize it so severely.

Posterity respects you most. 100 years after you are dead.

USE WOMEN, GIRLS IN RUM OPERATIONS

Bootleggers Reported Inducing Fair Sex To Lend Names to Business

Philadelphia, Sept. 11—The nation-wide rum ring operating out of this city uses women and girls to cover up its major activities, Prosecuting Attorney John Monaghan asserted today as his probe into underworld rule here continued.

Evidence has been uncovered which shows the biggest diversions of alcohol to bootleg trade were arranged by inducing women to lend their names to the business, Monaghan revealed.

First indications that women dupes were used in the rum operations was given when a slim, black-garbed girl appeared in the corridors outside the jury rooms. Her name is reported to be Anna Conney, and it is said Quaker Industrial Alcohol Co. is in her name.

According to prosecuting officials the girl innocently signed papers which made her the nominal owner of a large distillery. She is to be quizzed today as to the identity of her employers.

Federal agents will take an active part today in the probing of these alcohol diversions and in the operations of the rum rings in general. George E. Golding, ace of government investigators, arrived late yesterday. His staff of eight picked men also arrived to aid in the mopping up of the city of brotherly love.

NAME TRUSTEES

Ten Elected for Ohio Wesleyan by M. E. Conference

Springfield, Sept. 11—Ten trustees for Ohio Wesleyan university were elected by the new Ohio conference of the Methodist Episcopal church here Monday. The group of five ministers and five laymen elected will replace a group of 20 trustees, 10 representing each of the two conferences merged in the new Ohio conference.

All of the trustees named were members of the board prior to the merger of the conferences. Ministers elected as Ohio Wesleyan trustees were Dr. C. E. Schenk, Cincinnati; Dr. Edwin S Weaver, Lima; Dr. Thomas H. Campbell, Columbus; Dr. Charles Brashares, Dayton, and Dr. William C. Hartinger, Columbus. Laymen elected were Edward T. Reed, Portsmouth; J. J. Phillips, Lancaster; O. P. Edwards, Lepsic; E. E. Edgar, Troy, and Ernest H. Cherrington, Delaware.

CITES ACCIDENTS

Kearns Tells Carpenters They Lost $300,000 Through Mishaps

Columbus, Sept. 11—Ohio carpenters lost approximately $300,000 in wages last year because of accidents, Thomas P. Kearns, Columbus, superintendent of the state division of safety and hygiene, said today, addressing the fourteenth annual convention of the Ohio State Council of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. This amount, Kearns said, was exclusive of the compensation awards paid by order of the state industrial commission.

Need for more systematic educational safety work was stressed by Kearns.

Of the 4,000 accidents involving Ohio carpenters during last year, 14 were fatal and 15 resulted in permanent partial disability, Kearns stated. He attributed 80.5 per cent of the accidents to "persons falling, stepping upon, or striking against, objects, handtools, handling objects and falling objects."

WALDO YOUTH HAS PRIZE LITTER ENTRY

Robert Denzer Exhibits One of Outstanding Attractions of Junior Fair

Robert Denzer, 16, a junior in the Waldo High school, has what is thought to be the heaviest ton-litter ever fed and recorded in the Ohio ton-litter contest in Marion county. The litter is of Chester White breed and contains 11 pigs. At 180 days they weighed 2,510 pounds.

The litter will be shown in the Junior fair exhibit at the Marion county fair, this week. And has been officially recorded in the Ohio state ton litter contest. The entry has been under the supervision of the vocational agriculture department at Waldo high school.

Last year the fourth heaviest ton litter in the Ohio state contest was that of Fred Wilson, of Waldo, a senior in the high school this year. The litter shown by Denver weighs more and from reports available to date, is the heaviest little weighed so far this year.

Denzer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Denzer and is a junior at the high school this year. He started his work with swine as a freshman in the vocational agriculture department. L. B. Fidler is head of the department.

The six vocational agriculture teachers from Pleasant, Prospect, LaRue, Green Camp, Martel and Waldo are arranging the Junior fair exhibits at the fairgrounds, and report a larger exhibit than has been made in previous years.

DICKASON, 75, DIES AT HOME HERE

Co. Employe Succumbs Following Stroke of Apoplexy

D. Dickason, 75, died at 10:40 last night at his home, 1059 a few minutes following a stroke of apoplexy. He had been in ill health several months.

Funeral services are to be held at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at his late home and at 2 o'clock at Fite Memorial Baptist church. The Rev. [illegible] Young, pastor, will officiate, and burial will be in Marion cemetery.

Mr. Dickason had lived in Marion practically all his life. He engaged in farming until 11 years ago, when he became an employe of the Ohio Power Co. and was employed there up to the time of his death. Mr. Dickason was a member of Fite Memorial Baptist church and had been a teacher in the Sunday school.

Mr. Dickason was born in Marion county, Aug. 4, 1853, the son of John and Little Dickason. His parents were natives of Chillicothe, O. On Sept. 4, 1877, Mr. Dickason was united in marriage with Miss Elvira Mattox, daughter of the late W. W. Mattox.

Surviving Mr. Dickason are his wife; two sons, Clyde O. Dickason, at home, and Lexington T. Dickason, 1126 East Center st.; a sister, Mrs. Otto Roux, Marion, and two brothers, Jasper and Lee Dickason, both of LaRue.

NEW MANAGEMENT ANNOUNCES PLANS

Improvements and Additions To Be Made at Crystal Lake Next Year

Management of Crystal Lake park announced today that plans have been made for improvements and additions to the park next year. A "fun house" and "Chinese ball" alley will be among the new amusements installed, as well as one or more new riding devices.

Trees will be planted on the grounds and a log cabin has been built of the toys collected by Advisory Playground manager, and will be a meeting spot for younger children.

The park closed Sunday but will open again until next year's season this year ran from May 30 to Sept. 9. The swimming pool will be open for the remainder of the week.

GERMANY IN RAGE OVER BRIAND TALK

Foreign Minister Accuses Secret Building of Military Strength

Geneva, Sept. 11—A wave of rage swept Germany today as a result of a speech of French Foreign Minister Briand in which he accused Germany of secretly building up military strength.

Besides the speech and the Franco-German naval agreement are reported as a direct threat against Germany's miraculous recovery since the war began to frighten both Britain and France.

Political observers profess to see a parallel between Minister Briand's speech to the League of Nations and the famous "war in sight" speech by Chancellor Bismarck just before the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war.

The official declarations of the German minister against Germany being the effect of uniting political factions.

Kuno Westarp, leader of the Nationalists, and foremost foe of Dr. Mueller, a Socialist, in the Reichstag, gave the following statement to the International News Service:

"Mr. Briand's speech is a provoking insult to injury. The answer would be for Chancellor Mueller to report from Geneva at once; not because of the provocative and offensive remarks of the French foreign minister but because these remarks were received applauded by the delegates of the league assembly."

It is hoped that the speech has caused a lapse of Germany's plan to demand immediate withdrawal of the British and British occupation troops from the Rhineland.

FAIR FORECAST

Predicted Here for Tonight and Wednesday

Fair tonight and Wednesday, followed by a drop in the temperature sufficient to break the heat wave that has swept over Marion and vicinity for a few days, according to today's official forecast.

Yesterday the temperature reached a three high, and at noon today, had risen to the 84-degree mark. The low was recorded last night at around 75 degrees and fell to 66 degrees in the night.

GOES TO TOLEDO

Rev. A. F. Uphoff, Former Local Pastor, Given Appointment

Rev. A. F. Uphoff, a former pastor of Prospect Street M. E. church, has been assigned to pastorate of the First M. E. church, Toledo, according to announcement made today by Rev. Karl W. Patow, pastor of the Prospect Street church, who returned yesterday after attending the annual German M. E. conference in Akron. Mr. Uphoff spent the past year in Watseville, Ind.

Mr. Patow also announced that the Rev. C. Gerlach, also a former pastor, had made known his retirement from the ministry. He will live with relatives in Englewood, Ohio.

Three Ohio Stations Will Retain Old Frequencies Under New Radio Ruling

Chain Broadcasting Hard Hit by Changes in Regulations; Two National Channels Allowed to WTAM-WEAR and WLW-WSAI

With only three Ohio stations retaining their present frequency assignments, the most drastic changes in the history of radio broadcasting will go into effect at 3 a. m. Nov. 11 under the direction of the federal radio commission.

Provisions for the change in broadcasting made under the "equitable distribution" clause of the federal radio law as amended at the last session of congress gives Ohio two national channels. One goes to WTAM-WEAR, Cleveland, on 1,070 kilocycles, and the other on 700 kilocycles to WLW-WSAI of Cincinnati. A part time national channel borrowed from the fifth zone will be split by WAIU and WEAO at Columbus.

Of the larger stations of the state three were allowed at 5,000 watt rating, one with 3,500 watts two on 1,000 watts one 750 and six with 500 watts each.

Four regional channels were assigned to WAIC and WJFC, Akron, 1,340 kilocycles WHK and WJAY, Cleveland, 1,390 kilocycles; WCSO, Springfield, 1,380 kilocycles, and 1,430 kilocycles for WKR of Youngstown.

The Ohio stations given national channels will be precluded from broadcasting chain programs for more than one hour each night if the same program is being broadcast by another station within 300 miles.

The order provides that after Nov. 11, no two or more of the broadcasting stations assigned to the so-called national frequencies shall "broadcast simultaneously the same identical program for more than one hour daily during the hours between 7 p. m. and midnight, local standard time at the location of the station farthest east."

The only exceptions made to this rule are in the case of stations separated by a distance in excess of 300 miles or stations operating on the same frequency with a further provision that from time to time special permisson will be granted by the commission for the transmission of "programs of extraordinary national interest or of a nature such that public interest, convenience or necessity would clearly be served by their duplication to a greater extent than is permitted by the foregoing provisions of he order."

The purpose of the order, it was explained, is to keep the programs of stations on the national channels as varied as possible.

Failure to comply with the provisions of the order would be deemed a violation not only by the station in field but also the key station from which the duplication of program proceeds.

In view of the great restrictions placed upon chain broadcasting by the order, it is expected that it will be bitterly contested not only by the stations comprising the various chains but also by the operators of the systems.

AUTOMOBILE FIRES CAUSE $220 LOSS

Two Machines Damaged Here; Local Department Extinguishes Flames

Two automobile fires occurring in the city early last night resulted in a total damage of about $220.

Damage of $200 resulted from a fire in a Chevrolet touring car, owned by the Haberman Chevrolet Co., in the rear of its garage at 7:45 o'clock. The fire is believed to have been caused by a lighted cigaret or match left in the car.

Defective wiring was given as the cause of the fire in an automobile owned by Ralph Smith, and bearing a Pennsylvania license, as it stood in front of the Crawbaugh Hardware store, North Main st., at 8:15 o'clock. Approximately $20 damage resulted.

Both fires were extinguished by firemen from Central station.

C., D. & M. NAMED IN SUPREME COURT SUIT

Mandamus Action Brought as Result of Dispute with Alloy Cast Steel Co.

Failure of the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co. to file a schedule of rates for power for electric furnace heating with the public utilities commission of Ohio has resulted in the electric company being named defendant in a mandamus suit which was filed in the state supreme court today by Attorney General Edward C. Turner.

The petition seeks to compel the C., D. & M. to file the schedule with the utilities commission as ordered by the commission on Jan. 18. The petition states that the company "failed, omitted and neglected to obey" orders issued by the commission.

The order directed the company to make its schedule of rates and charges conform to a contract entered into between the C., D. & M. and the Alloy Cast Steel Co. of Marion, it was stated.

The petition states that a second order was issued by the commission on Feb. 21 when the electric company failed to comply with the first order.

The action in the supreme court is another chapter in the court proceedings through which the Alloy Cast Steel Co. and the C., D. & M. have gone in recent months in their attempt to arrive at a satisfactory agreement concerning rates for electric energy for heating the furnaces of the steel company.

INJURED PRISONER TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Columbus Man Falls in Alleged Attempt To Evade Officer Here

C. G. Webb, an employe of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., in Columbus, is recovering in City hospital here today from injuries sustained when he fell from the platform at the local C., D. & M. station about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He fell while trying to escape from E. C. Macken, local street railway superintendent who is also a special officer, according to Macken's report.

Caught by Macken in the act of taking a drink of intoxicating liquor on the platform of the station shortly after he left the interurban car which arrived a few minutes before from Columbus, Webb made an attempt to escape and fell from the platform, his face striking the pavement, Macken states.

He was knocked unconscious by the fall and did not revive until about 7 o'clock last night in City prison, where he was charged with intoxication. On complaining of an injury to his right leg, he was later removed to City hospital in the M. H. Gunder ambulance.

His injuries consisted of a dislocated hip and cuts and bruises about the face and head.

Webb was in an intoxicated condition when he left Columbus, according to the conductor in charge of the car in which he came to Marion. In his cell at City prison last night, Webb maintained that he was struck and pushed off the platform at the station. He said he was on his way to Bucyrus to visit his daughter.

FORMER EMPLOYE OF LOCAL HOTEL DIES

"Pat" Norton Succumbs After Being Found Unconscious in Hallway

A man known here as "Pat" Norton, died about 7 o'clock this morning at Hotel Worley, after being found in an unconscious condition in one of the halls of the hotel. County Coroner B. D. Osborn pronounced death due to "heart failure following alcoholic indulgence."

Norton, said to be about 65 years of age, had resided in Marion the greater part of two years and had been employed during that time at the hotel. He had resigned there Saturday, saying he was going to Upper Sandusky, to "work for a cousin."

Nothing further was heard of the man, about whom little is known, until this morning when he was found dying, by Amos Mapes, an Erie brakeman who had just come in from his run.

The body was removed to the C. E. Curtis & Co. Funeral home, East Center st.

Effort is being made to locate the cousin in Upper Sandusky and relatives in Pittsburgh, Pa., where, according to William Hoover, proprietor of the hotel, Norton said a son of his resided.

Norton was about five feet, seven and one half inches in height, had gray hair, gray eyes and a dark grey mustache. When found he was wearing a dark-colored suit with polka-dot tie.

The thumb of his left hand had been amputated and there is a scar on the back of the left hand. One dollar and eighty-seven cents in change, three pocket combs, two pairs of glasses and two purses were found on his person.

SOCIETY MEETS

Miss Ethel Stiffler Is Hostess to Prospect Queen Esthers

Prospect, Sept. 11—The Queen Esther society of the M. E. church held its monthly meeting at the home of Ethel Stiffler, last night.

The meeting was opened by the president, Ethel Stiffler, and "Lead on O, King Eternal" was sung by the members. The scripture was read by Lucille Cheney, after which Mrs. W. M. Keller led in prayer. A business meeting was in charge of the president. The following leaflets were read: "Homes of the Mountain Children," Martha Cheney; "Mitchell Home," Ruth Thomas; "Little Ann of Lost Gap," Gladys Lindley, "Helping Pap," Lucille Cheney. A song, "Where Cross the Crowded Way of Life," was sung, and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. Those present were Misses Lucille and Martha Cheney, Ruth Thomas, Gladys Lindley, Margaret Sites, Ethel Stiffler and Mrs. W. M. Keller. Mrs. W. F. Lowry was a guest. A social time was enjoyed, and refreshments were served.

INFANT DIES

Daughter of Former Marion Residents Taken by Pneumonia

Mrs. Clifford McCoy, 248 Thew av., received word today of the death last night in Toledo of her niece, Irene Jones, year-old-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jones, who formerly resided in Marion. Death was due to pneumonia.

The body will be brought here Wednesday night and removed to the McCoy home. Funeral services, to be in charge of the Rev. Wiley B. Young, pastor of Fite Memorial Baptist church, have not been arranged.

Aside from the parents, the child leaves two sisters, Bernice and Virginia Jones and two brothers, Hiram and Vernon Jones, all at home in Toledo.

COUNCIL AGREES ON NEW AIRPORT SITE

Action on $12,600 Appropriation Expected at Meeting Tonight

the sale of the land as quickly as possible.

The 140-acre tract which council will consider purchasing at the meeting tonight, is owned by H. S. Long. It was formerly known as the Harvey farm. It is located directly south of the 105 acres and the southern part of the field borders the improved road which is an extension of Silver st., west of Kenton av.

The land is believed to be better adapted for an airport site than the 105-acre tract. It has already been tiled and is level enough to permit immediate use as a landing field. The field is practically square and is situated so as to permit takeoffs from the width of the field as well as the length. The 105-acre field was in a rectangular shape and takeoffs could only be made over the length of the tract.

Should council pass the ordinance tonight for the purchase of the land, 32 acres of the tract, situated east of the Rock Swale ditch which runs through the eastern section of the field, may not be used immdiately as part of the airport, Solicitor Geran stated today.

May Lease 32 Acres

Owing to the fact that it is believed the field west of the ditch will meet the needs of the city at the present time, the 32 acres may be leased as farm land, should the purchase be effected. According to the plans 32 acres will be utilized should traffic at the airport warrant it in the future.

The 140-acre plot can be purchased for $90 an acre. The option now held by the city on the land expires Oct. 15. Should the council pass the ordinance for appropriation of the money tonight, an ordinance for the purchase of the land will likely be presented to the council at its regular meeting, Oct. 8, which will end the 30-day referendum period required by law.

Two reports concerning the 105-acre field were presented to the council last night at its regular meeting. In the report of the survey of the land by City Engineer T. S. Cathers, he stated that the land was not directly in the flood district. His report revealed the tract to be 105 acres instead of 104 acres, as originally described.

A report of the investigation of six members of the Marion Real Estate board made at the field, was also presented to the council.

FAIR MANAGEMENT READY FOR CROWDS

Opening Today Draws Visitors; Program To Start Wednesday

Although the Marion county fair will not get fully under way until Wednesday morning there was a fair sized crowd on the grounds for the opening today. Attendance is expected to reach the peak on Thursday, according to Roland L. Leeper, secretary.

Opening of the race program Wednesday afternoon is expected to attract a large attendance. The speed program for the first day calls for three races. Four races are scheduled for Thursday and three for the closing day, Friday.

Banking institutions of the city will be closed for the next two afternoons, it was stated today. Officers To Be Elected at Closing Session of State Meeting of Catholic Order

Carey Catholic Knights Are Hosts to 150 Delegates at Thirty-First Annual Gathering Which Ends This Afternoon

BULLETIN

Carey, Sept. 11—Henry N. Gabel of Fremont was elected state president of the Catholic Knights of Ohio at the closing session of their convention here this afternoon. Rev. John A. Schaffeld of Cleveland was chosen state spiritual director.

Other officers named were: Peter Bergman of Cincinnati, vice president; George J. Mathauer of Cleveland, secretary, Dr. B. A. Maloney of Upper Sandusky, medical director; Henry G. Hauck of Cincinnati, legal councillor and Dennis J. Ryan of Cincinnati Nicholas Gaegler of Delphos, and Fred Suller of Toledo, trustees.

Officers will later meet and select the next convention city.

• • •

Carey, Sept. 11 — Officers will be chosen late this afternoon at the thirty-first annual convention of the Catholic Knights of Ohio which opened here Sunday. One hundred and fifty delegates are registered at convention headquarters in the Galt hotel and these, together with a large number of visitors, are participating in the program arranged by state officers and local committeemen.

Confers Degree

The second degree was conferred on a class of 100 candidates at a meeting held at the parish hall of Our Lady of Consolation church Sunday night. Monday morning at 7:30 o'clock officers and delegates met at the convention hall and marched to the Shrine church where they attended the celebration of the solemn high mass at which the Rev. Father Lawrence, Carey, was the celebrant. The convention sermon was delivered by the state spiritual director, the Rev. J. A. Schaffeld, Cleveland. During the mass the beautiful window, the gift of the Catholic Knights of Ohio and the Fathers of the Immaculate Conception Province was blessed by the Rev. Father Koenig, of Cincinnati.

The visitors were welcomed by the Rev. Father Lawrence of the parish of Our Lady of Consolation and mayor Arthur Byers, and the response was made by Henry M. Gabel, Fremont, state president. A. L. Arnold, Carey, chairman of the convention executive committee of Branch No. 38, presided at the opening of the meeting and prayer was offered by the Rev. J. A. Schaffeld.

350 at Banquet

Covers were placed for 350 delegates and guests at the banquet served in the parish hall last night. The banquet was followed by a social meeting and dance in the American Legion hall.

A solemn requiem high mass for the repose of the souls of all the departed members was celebrated this morning at 8 o'clock. The convention will close with the session this afternoon.

POTTERY COMPANY TO OPEN $125,000 PLANT

New Industry Exected To Start Near Mt. Gilead This Week

(Special to The Star)

Mt. Gilead, Sept. 11—Plant of the Florence Pottery Co., of Mt. Gilead, located about one mile northeast of here on the T. & O. C. railroad, is rapidly nearing completion. All construction has been completed and the plant will be ready for operation and will probably be in production by next Saturday if no unforeseen obstacle prevents.

The pottery was nearly complete when progress was temporarily halted by the sudden death of Robert Gray, its chief financial backer. A local company was organized and the work begun anew and the pottery, which without question is one of the finest in the country, is nearly ready for production.

Thoroughly Modern

The original plans called for complete and up-to-date equipment and nothing was spared to make it modern. Practically all machinery in the pottery is electrically operated with two sources of current, the plant having a complete power plant within its walls. A huge and expensive Dressler tunnel kiln has been installed at a cost of thousands of dollars and is ready for operation.

According to figures released by the company officials the cost of the pottery complete is, in round figures, $125,000 although the company was originally incorporated for $50,000.

There is a total floor space of approximately 45,000 square feet all of which is made of concrete.

Company Office

The officers in charge are: Grant Haenisch, president; H. H. Holland, vice president and managing director; Ralph Turner, secretary treasurer.

The pottey has a capacity of 3,500 flower pots in 10 hours and the capacity of the molders and dryers is sufficient to run the kiln over Sundays and holidays. A huge storage room has been constructed which will house enough clay to run the pottery over two months, during which time, even in winter, it is possible to dig more clay. If present plans work out there will be two shifts on the job and the kiln will run continuously. There are many orders now placed with the company although there are no salesmen on the road as yet.

The company will employ 50 men on a shift, making one of the largest payrolls in the county.

Doesn't Look Like Good Financing.

It would be interesting to know what may be the thoughts of Secretary of the Interior Roy O. West, having gone over the ground, regarding the pleas of the members of the two houses of congress from Wyoming for the expenditure of more millions on the Riverton reclamation scheme in that state to extract money from the treasury of the United Etates.

Up to the present, the government has expended about $2,000,000 on the construction of irrigation works and plans to spend about $5,000,000 to complete the work. Yet federal legislators from Wyoming, regardless of party lines, are crying out for further development in the face of the fact that there has been practically no demand for the farming land already developed for the rising of alfalfa, clover, small grain, potatoes, sugar beets and hardy vegetables.

The government has advertised the land thus reclaimed far and wide and there is an understanding that the settlers will be given forty years to pay for any land they may take over. But there is little demand for new and untried land twenty miles away from a railroad, so little, in fact, that there are only about a dozen settlers on the 20,000 acres on which irrigation works have been constructed at a cost of approximately $2,000,000. When completed, the Riverton project, the estimated cost of the reclaiming of which is $7,000,000, will include 100,000 acres. In other words, the reclaiming of the land will cost $70 an acre, for which price real land in a civilized community—right here in Marion county, let us say—may be purchased, and the purchaser will not have to combat wolves, prairie dogs and rattlesnakes.

And here's another way of looking at it. If a dozen settlers locate on 20,000 acres, that proportion will give sixty settlers for 100,000 acres, or an expenditure of $116,666.67 for each settler.

Any way one may look at it, the thing doesn't look like an overly good bit of financing for the interests of the taxpayers of the nation.

Not Abandoned, but Doomed.

From London comes denial of the cabled report that the secret agreement negotiated between Sir Austen Chamberlain between Great Britain and France had been abandoned, but there is frank admission that it probably will be.

The original report was that the agreement, or understanding—whatever it may be called—had been promptly vetoed by Premier Baldwin and the other members of the British ministry because of the marked show of feeling against it throughout Britain.

The later London report is that the Baldwin ministry, although it has not yet abandoned the agreement, realizes that it is doomed in the face of the feeling in Britain and the "unofficial" hint from the United States, that the proposed understanding will not meet with the approval of Washington, a hint in no way less strong because of the fact that it was not officially given.

The hostility to the agreement manifested in Great Britain is due in large part to the feeling that there should be no secret treaties, agreements or understandings which may have an influence on the peace of the world. Britons have become converts to the doctrine, so warmly championed in his lifetime by the late President Wilson, of open covenants openly arrived at; and that such is the feeling common in Great Britain, as it is here in the United States, is the greatest stroke for open diplomacy in all world history. The two great English-speaking peoples says to the world: "We are for all time opposed to secret diplomacy, and will have none of it."

In addition to this objection to the secret naval pact, the United States has another; that it may cover up an agreement looking to the combined action of the British and French navies in case of war, which would have the effect of destroying the 5-5-3 ratio agreed on at the Washington conference looking to the limitation of major naval vessels, at which, it must be said, Great Britain carried off the lion's share of the honors. Under the terms of the agreement, she retained sea supremacy which she was about to lose because she was not in position to build up her major vessels at the time while the United States was constructing on a program which would have surpassed her. The Washington agreement provided for a parity in major ships between Britain and the United States. Any agreement which would bring to the British fleets in time of war the fleet of France would absolutely nullify the purpose of the ratio stipulation. This, without a doubt, was the cause of the deep interest manifested by President Coolidge in the secret agreement, and this the real explanation, thought not expressed, of the intimation given Great Britain of American disapproval of the Anglo-French naval understanding.

It is predicted in London that so long as the present outburst of feeling dwells in the memory of man, no foreign minister will again attempt to enter into any secret deal along the line of that at present attracing world attention. Let us hope that secret diplomacy is ended for all time. The world now realizes that secret diplomacy was in large part responsible for the World war, and it is sick and tired of it. There is no occasion for secrecy, no excuse for it, in connection with a naval agreement free from national selfishness. A secret naval agreement is a confession that the parties thereto hope through it to gain an advantage over other powers, possibly, and in this case actually, over powers with which they have open covenants the aim and purposes of which are nullified by such secret agreements.

The former secretary of a wealthy New Yorker has sued the administrator of his estate for $700,000 for the failure of the decedent, when in life, to marry her. This should impress on hard-working spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs the wisdom of hiring men only for secretaries.

"YOU ARE OVERWEIGHT, YOU MUST REDUCE!"

A Cure for Club-Foot.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A new-born baby has before him a hard enough life even if he enters the world perfect in form and function. But when he is born with some defect in body or limb, his chances for trouble have been multiplied manifoldly.

Byron, beautiful in face and figure, was ruined in spirit because he had a clubfoot. This particular deformity is not so serious now as it was in Byron's day, because the medical profession has found ways of dealing with it. The poet was embittered by his unrelieved defect, but now there are mechanical or surgical means of cure. In most instances, nowadays, there is no excuse for sadness or sourness of disposition on account of this deformity, bad as it is.

There are various forms of clubfoot, or "talipes" as the doctors call it. "Talipes equinus," as the name indicates, is a deformity where the victim walks on his toes, just as the horse does. The heel is drawn up and the sole of the foot is directed backward.

This position is taken because the muscles at the back of the leg are shortened, so that the heel cannot be brought to the ground. Walking on the balls of the toes produces callouses there.

The most common form of clubfoot is called "talipes varus." In this variety the foot is bent forward. In consequence, the victim walks on the outer side or edge of the foot.

In "talipes valgus" the natural arch of the foot is absent. The foot is bent outward, and the walking is done on the inner side of the foot.

There is a rare form of talipes in which the toes and front of the foot are drawn upward. On this account it is necessary to walk on the heel.

Flat-foot is really a form of talipes. The arch is lost and the foot sags flatly against the floor. This may not be a congenital defect, but may be acquired. During the war it was surprising how many victims of flatfoot were discovered in the draft examinations.

The secret of successful correction of clubfeet is early attention. Manipulation and well directed exercises may correct some cases. Mechanical devices like braces, special shoes, or strapping may relieve. Sometimes operation may be required.

I know what it means to the parent to submit his child to operation or to require him to wear an uncomfortable brace. The easiest way is to go along, hoping the trouble will right itself.

But it is not fair to the child to permit this neglect in youth. The time will come when he will reproach his parents for failure to act in his babyhood.

Submit the club-foot to the examination of an able specialist in this branch of medicine. When he has advised, follow his instructions to the letter. There are very bright prospects that early treatment will overcome the deformity, or, at least, make it so much less that it is no longer noticeable.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

J. L. R. Q—Has smoking or shaving anything to do with pimples? How can these and blackheads be cleared up?

A.—Shaving is often responsible for blemishes on the face. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. Proper diet and regular elimination are the principal factors when looking for treatment.

T. F. T. Q.—What will reduce the calves of the legs? Exercises seem to make them larger.

2.—What is the cause of gas on the stomach, and what will relieve it? What will aid my digestion?

A.—Reduce the weight in general. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question.

2.—Faulty diet and improper elimination will cause gases, due to indigestion and fermentation. Correct these conditions and you will benefit generally. Careful diet and regular elimination will help your digestion. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. Copyright, 1928, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Editorial Opinion.

REGARDING EXTRAVAGANCE.

In his acceptance speech Governor Alfred E. Smith took occasion to criticize and question the genuineness of Coolidge economy.

This naturally invites a comparison between the financial records of Governor Smith himself during his eight years of office in New York state and that of the Republican administration at Washington.

Barrons, the well-known financial authority, furnishes the figures. During the fiscal years ended June 30, 1920 to 1928, federal taxes were reduced 44.8 per cent. During the same period of Governor Smith's incumbency, New York state special taxes were increased 75.4 per cent. Total federal expenditures in these years were reduced 43.8 per cent, and the annual interest payment was increased 40.8 per cent.

Governor Smith is, no doubt, an able administrator, but he does not shine as a financier. While Mr. Coolidge and Secretary Mellon were saving money for the taxpayers, Governor Smith was spending his taxpayers' money with increasing freedom.

Unfortunately, voters who pay no direct taxes are not always so much interested in governmental economy as they should be. They often favor heavy expenditures, in the belief that some of the benefits will accrue to themselves. Governor Smith stands high with this class of citizens in New York, because he understands how to make them believe he is helping them by liberal spendings out of the state treasury.

But the truth is, of course, that the man who pays no direct taxes, nevertheless pays, and pays heavily, in higher rents and greater cost of living. Extravagance in public expenditure comes back on the shoulders of the man least able to bear the burden.

The Coolidge administration by dint of persistent economy and skillful management has lifted a considerable share of the war tax burden from the American people. Yet it is criticized by the Democratic candidate for president, who has himself as a state executive helped pile the tax burden higher upon his own people.

It does not lie in the mouth of Governor Smith to denounce Coolidge economy, nor to beseech the American people to put an end to it by rejecting Hoover and electing Smith.—Minneapolis Journal.

A MERITED HONOR.

Election of Charles Evans Hughes as a member of the World court must be interpreted as a personal compliment to the eminent international statesman. In view of the refusal of the United States to join the League of Nations and its subsequent abstention from the World court itself the election of an American can scarcely be considered in the light of a compliment to this nation. Nor is it likely that the nations which favored the election of Hughes were animated by any desire to wheedle or flatter the American republic.

The days of cajolery are past. There is next to no hope in Europe of American reconsideration. The American attitude is generally misunderstood and almost universally regretted. Perhaps it would be more nearly accurate to say that American abstention is resented. It implies American suspicion, and the statesmen who are most prominent in the advocacy of the League of Nations and the World court feel that this suspicion is unworthy.

For years it was hoped that continued manifestations of patient friendliness might produce some effect. Now Europe and South America profess indifference. It is the only profession compatible with the national pride of powers which have been snubbed.

Therefore the election of Mr. Hughes is a wholly personal choice. He is elected not because he is an American, but rather in spite of this fact. He is elected because his record as an international statesman indicates his preeminent fitness for the post. He is elected because it is the world's desire to make the World court as strong and efficient a tribunal as possible. Magnanimity and wisdom have thus combined to bring Charles Evans Hughes perhaps the greatest distinction of his very distinguished public career.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Pure" Science and Useful Science.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

For a long time now the cultivators of "pure" science have kept possession of the horn, and with voices big and voices little, all trained to the same meter have broadcast, ad nauseum, the whoop that the wonderful material progress of the world in our time is only a by-product of "research," pursued with an eye single to the discovery of "pure, unadulterated truth," uncontaminated by any relations with such vulgar things as utility or money.

But now at last a voice is heard—and that from a "doctor"—raised in behalf of the science of the engineer. Dr. H. F. Moore, of the University of Illinois, after speaking, in Science, of "the salutary mental attitude of recognizing our dependence on pure science," continues:

"Let us not forget that while pure science furnishes us with generalizations of observed phenomena into concise, summarized statements which we call laws, and also gives us root ideas for many of the practical appliances and processes of applied science, yet it is equally true that the study of practical problems has been the source of not a few of the root ideas of pure science."

I have black-faced the challenge in this sentence, because it contains a great truth that has been too often ignored, and because it ought to be called to the attention of all readers interested in the real facts about modern life.

For illustrations Dr. Moore confines himself to the field of the mechanics of materials, the science that deals with the strength and elasticity of solids. Going back to the time of Archimedes, he shows how even in those days "the development of scientific thought and especially the development of scientific technique was limited and hindered by a spirit of intellectual aloofness which caused the man of thought to look down on the world of tools and labor."

Galileo did not show this intellectual aloofness. In his investigation of the strength of beams, in connection with ship building and shipyards, "he stands out," says Dr. Moore, "as a great pioneer advocate of experimental study."

The most striking illustration offered is that of the famous Robert Hooke, who guessed a part of Newton's science ahead of Newton—and who contributed to posterity a law of elastic strain—"as the stretch, so the force"—which is cited as a shining example of a contribution made by applied science to the basic law of a pure science.

During a period of 156 years, Hooke's theory of elastic strain was worked upon by famous men, including four great mathematicians, Euler, Bernoulli, La Grange and Coulomb, who "may well be classified as 'pure' scientists," and, "at the end of this period of development, we find an engineer straightening out the work of a century and a half into a logical though rather complicated systematized body of knowledge."

This engineer was another great experimental worker, Louis Navier, famous French engineer, "who put the beam theory on the map." Still another French bridge engineer, Barre de Saint Vincent, notwithstanding his power in mathematical analysis, "was so far from intellectual aloofness to the problems of everyday life that in his great work developing the elaborate theory of elasticity he frankly avowed his purpose of putting that science in a form available to the structural engineer and the machine designer."

It is a matter of mental attitude; but that is a thing of immense importance in life, to be deeply impressed upon youthful minds. All ought to know that from the days of Galileo to the present, at least in this branch of science, "the main ideas have come fully as frequently from the shop, the shipyard and the bridge site as from the study of the scholar or the laboratory of the pure scientist aloof from the practical needs of his day."—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

From Our Readers.

Regarding "Canned" Music.

Editor Star:—On behalf of the organized musicians of Marion I am addressing you to set forth an interesting and significant view of a recent development in the field of entertainment—the introduction of the talking motion picture.

I think it may be allowed that the motion picture has come to occupy such a position of dominance in the field of entertainment and in our community life that anything affecting the movie theater program may be said to be of public moment.

The American Federation of Musicians, embracing in its membership 158,000 members or practically all professional instrumental musicians, in the United States and Canada, is not opposed to progress. We welcome the talking movie as a potential improvement in the dramatic form, but we are opposed to the substitution of mechanical music, synchronized to screen action, for the personal appearance of musicians.

Now, we have no desire to sail under false colors, so we readily admit that our peculiar interest in opposing such a substitution is that it might cost some of us our jobs. We see a further reason for protest, however, which is of greater public concern. Substitution of mechanical music inevitably means a debasement of the art of music.

The movie business has done much to foster appreciation of good music and in providing better music than is usually offered to the general public, thus improving the public taste. Now it is proposed to take a step that would destroy this musical advance. For mechanical music can never be more than a base counterfeit of the genuine performance. You can not mechanize an art.

We are not foolish enough to propose that the public should be denied what it wants. If the public wants its music in this form, it will get it. We are concerned only to prevent something being "slipped over" on the theater patron. He may enjoy the synchronization plan as a new toy, but if he is not alert to the consequences he may find later that the toy has become the substitute for good music. It is a "creeping adulteration" of music that we are warning against.

Looking a little further into the future, we foresee that the quality of our national music will be seriously affected if "canned" music displaces other forms and reduces the musician's opportunities of employment. It is well known that any art depends for its progress upon the number and enthusiasm of its devoted executants. Where will the young musician of the future gain the incentive to perfect his art if a mere handfulof recording artists are supplying all the music needed?

From a community viewpoint, is it not preferable to have resident artists drawing and spending their salaries here to having the money sent out of town? There has, as yet, been no proposal to share the economy of "canned" music with theater patrons in the form of a reduced admission charge.

We musicians are making no plea for sympathy, but we invite the public to look upon synchronized music in the movies with its eyes open to future possibilities. Hence we appeal to the Star to publish this letter.

Very truly yours,
J. F. Stansell, Sec'y. Local 531,
American Federation of Musicians.

Not What It's Painted.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

Hollywood, Sept. 11—Every writer picked on Hollywood as the modern Sodom and Gomorrah. Some of it is true; but most of it is a part of the legend. The population is the Hollywoodite spends his nights removing gin bottles from the kitchen sink. And wondering who he shot last night.

There have been wild orgies here just as there have been in New York, Palm Beach, Hot Springs, Herrin, Illinois. But my impression of Hollywood is not so much of high jinks as thwarted hope—a land of frozen dreams where the sands stay on and on awaiting the lucky break that never comes.

A few moving picture stars live far back in the Hollywood hills, but a greater number on the side in Beverly and other snooty suburbs. Hollywood proper is chiefly the haven of down-at-heel extras, mothers who have brought daughters to seize the "Big Chance," character players and small shops.

During the day they go from one casting agency to another, and at sundown collect in the cafeterias and lunchrooms for food, for the warmth of a little friendly contact and for the rebuffs and chilly receptions of the day.

There is a touch of that pathetic helplessness of sheep awaiting slaughter. I am sure any number have been here for as long as ten years without once receiving the slightest recognition. An unknown who acquires a sudden fame serves to fan the dying flame of enthusiasm.

Every all-night debauch ending in murder in southern California is stamped as a "Hollywood Orgy." Yet there is no densely-populated community so absolutely dead to the world after 10 o'clock as this. Most of them must arise at sun-up to be off to the studios.

This is not a defense of the motion picture colony as a whole. Some of their capers have deserved the pitiless publicity received, but the idea Hollywood itself is a wild, wicked city is just another American myth. It is not "ecstified." Most of the wild parties are held in big hillside palaces and canyon castles.

On every corner of prominence in Hollywood there is a pop-corn or peanut stand, and there is a circus-day effect among the scores who stroll along munching from paper bags. Every once in a while a hyena-like half circle of strollers clots at the entrance of a restaurant or shop. News has gone out that some movie celebrity is inside, and they await his exit. It goes on all day long.

* * *

Hollywood is interested in nothing but the various phases of movie life. It is not gregarious to the outsider, merely not interested. Shopkeepers leave no stones unturned to secure patronage of a star, for that means the patronage of his or her followers. A hairdresser, meat shop or jewelry store is "made" by an autographed photograph of a Mary Pickford in the window indorsing the wares.

A modest scenario writer lived for months in a Hollywood apartment-house without forming a single acquaintance. Then a message was received one day by the telephone operator for the scenario writer to call up Cevil De Mille. That night the proprietor met him at the door with a low bow. There were six invitations from other tenants for dinner in the mail box. He had suddenly become a nonage.

A serio-comic slice of Hollywood is among those who believe a berth in the movies may be won by some outlandish get-up in dress. There are spinsters with curls to their shoulder, wearing short gingham skirts and socks; mail order cowboys, lads tanned with walnut juice, and goose-greased hair; with monocles and swagger sticks, and the most curious assortment of misplaced brows posing as mustaches in the world.

One who has no appreciation of the possible value of the time of another is selfish. The very often the worst form of bore. Your friend's time may be of very little value, but you are not courteous if you do not at least assume that it is valuable and behave in accordance with that idea. To go into any man's office and stay an hour unless you are sure you are welcome is taking a chance. You are taking the chance of getting on the "list to look out for."

Few of us can resist the temptation to tell dishonest books. We hate above all else to tell ourselves the truth. We have all sorts of ingenious ways of figuring how we can afford this, that, and the other thing. We make all sorts of curious plans for refinancing ourselves, hardly realizing that we are fooling ourselves and merely using figures to deceive. It takes a strong and wise man to keep his own books on his own finances.

It is quite wrong, of course, to advise young men not to go into politics. This country needs young men in politics. Politics may be dirty but politics can be made clean when enough of the right sort of people get in and change the methods. But it's no sweet and easy life and it takes a fighter to make a success. Young men should give a lot of thought to what they are going to be up against—the old ones, too—before they plunge in and ask for office.

Talking about proverbs, there is one that says no one was ever ruined by speaking the truth. Some value to that proverb, but it doesn't mean the truth should always be spoken every time there is a good opportunity. Struggling mortals need the lubrication of a lot of silence. KENTON AG STUDENTS TO VISIT MARKETS

Sept. 18 Is Date Set for Trip to Cincinnati with Department Head

42 BOYS TO MAKE TRIP

Club Members Have Kept Track of Cost of Feeding Hogs

Kenton, Sept. 11—That students of the Vocational Agriculture department of the Kenton high school might gain first hand information of the grading, shipping, marketing and preparation of hogs for the retail market, they are to be taken on a tour of inspection of the Cleveland markets on Sept. 18.

The trip, being sponsored by Professor E. R. Tam, head of the department, will be participated in by 42 youths, members of the hog feeding club.

During the past year the boys fed from one to five hogs apiece having kept a detailed record of the costs. Before going to Cleveland, their hogs are to be graded by A. F. Potter of the Cleveland Producers Cooperative Commission association. Mr. Potter will also grade calves and sheep being shipped by other farmers of the country. He will grade them as they sell on the Cleveland market.

Following the grading demonstration the boys will motor to Cleveland and watch their stock sold in the market there. They will then watch them killed and dressed and prepared for the market.

MOTION IS FILED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Mt. Gilead Officials Want Judgment Given Former Janitor Set Aside

Mt. Gilead, Sept. 11—The Mt Gilead school board was ordered to pay a $200 judgment to Clyde Thompson, former janitor of the schools, when it failed to answer a petition filed by Thompson. Thompson claimed that he had been hired according to contract until Sept. 1 this year but had been paid only until July 1. The board filed a motion yesterday moving to set aside the judgment and the journal entry and asking leave to answer. The board claims to have grounds for defense against the action.

Upon leave granted by Judge W. P. Vaughan, an answer was filed yesterday in common pleas court in the case of C. H. Wood, administrator, against the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., an action for money only. The defendants denied the allegations of the petition.

In the foreclosure action of the Buckeye State Building & Loan Co. against Josephine Millikan and others, leave to withdraw the demurrer was granted.

CHAPTER MEETS

Sorority Members Hear Report of State Meet at Steubenville

Bucyrus, Sept. 11—The Tau Chapter of Alpha Pi Sigma Sorority held their first meeting of the fall season last night at the St. James Episcopal parish house.

It was decided during the business session to give up the room at the parish house until the first of the year, and to hold the meetings at homes of the members. Plans were made for presenting a benefit movie some time during the next three weeks.

Miss Eleanor Koehler, delegate to the Alpha Pi Sigma convention at Steubenville, in June, gave a full report of the meetings held at that time.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 26, in charge of a committee composed of [illegible] Mary Gilchrist, Caroline [illegible], Lilla Gidney and Edith [illegible].

CHANGE SCHEDULE

No More Interscholastic Games for Galion High School Girls

Galion, Sept. 11—Interscholastic athletics for girls of Galion High school are a thing of the past according to a recent decision of the board of education, and the sports program in the future will consist only of inter-class games for the girl students. Miss Helen Mandeville, who assumes charge of the girls' athletic program for the year, appeared at the meeting of the board and requested the change.

Yesterday morning a mass meeting of the girl students was held and the entire group indorsed and approved the outlined program after Miss Mandeville's explanation of the new system. The change, according to Miss Mandeville, is for a democratic purpose, to give every girl in the school a chance at athletic participation instead of only a favored few making the Galion varsity squad. Included in the sports program are volley-ball, basketball, baseball and hiking in addition to the usual gymnastics work. Girls [illegible] will be entered for gold pins and [illegible] and pennants awarded to the [illegible] making daily class credit. The new system will be in effect, a number of [illegible] number of points being required [illegible] the school council, the [illegible]

ARRANGE SERVICES FOR C. F. COPPLER, 83

Upper Sandusky Civil War Veteran To Be Buried in Old Mission Cemetery

Upper Sandusky, Sept. 11—Private funeral services have been arranged for Charles Frederick Coppler, 83, veteran of the Civil war and a resident of this county for many years who died Monday morning to be held from the home, North Eighth-st, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. C. F. Betz, pastor of St Paul's Lutheran church will officiate and burial will be made in Old Mission cemetery. While the services are private on account of Mrs. Coppler's health, all friends and neighbors are invited.

Mr. Coppler was born in Baden, Germany, March 10, 1845. He was one of a family of 11 children, of whom two brothers, Henry Coppler, of Carey, Andy Coppler, of near Harrod and one sister, Mrs. Frederick Moves, of Carey, survive. When two years of age, he came to this country with his parents, Mr and Mrs. John J. Coppler and resided a short time near Marion. Later the family moved to a farm in Salem township. For over 30 years, Mr Coppler lived in this city where he conducted a repair shop until failing health forced him to discontinue active business. His death was caused by asthma and dropsy.

On April 25, 1878, he was married to Miss Elizabeth Stief, who survives. Mr. and Mrs. Coppler celebrated their golden wedding anniversary this year. He was a member of St Paul's Lutheran church.

TO CONDUCT RITES FOR G. W. HEINLE

Life Resident of Crawford County Dies at Home of Son, Near Sycamore

Bucyrus, Sept 11—Funeral services will be held Wednesday for George W. Heinle prominent farmer, stock raiser and lifelong resident of Crawford county, who died at the home of his son, J. L. Heinle, near Sycamore, Sunday evening. Services will be held at 1 o'clock at the home and at 2 o'clock from the Martin Luther church, of which Mr. Heinle was a member. The Rev. R. J. Gaetz will conduct the services.

Mr. Heinle was born in Bucyrus, February 18, 1845, the son of John G. and Marie Leitzy Heinle, and was later married to Matilda Zimmerman, who preceded him in death several years ago.

Those surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Susan Tinxler, Bucyrus, two sons Amos of Stockton, Cal., and J. L. Heinle, of Sycamore; one brother, Joseph Heinle residing west of Bucyrus, and two sisters, Mrs. Adam Brown and Mrs. Martin Myers. Twelve grandchildren and one greatgrandchild also survive.

RESUMES SESSIONS

Bucyrus Welfare Association Holds First Meeting

Bucyrus, Sept. 11—Twelve members were present at the first meeting since the summer recess of the Central Welfare association held last night in the public health room at the public library.

Several bills were allowed during the session, and a report was given by Mrs. P. B. Holmes, secretary, of the activities during the summer, including a report of the Domestic Science class which has been formed by various club women for the benefit of girls of the city between the ages of 10 and 16. Classes in sewing and cooking, and picnics have been arranged for the girls during the summer months.

The October meeting of the board will be held one week later than schedule, due to the State Welfare association convention at Columbus which occurs during that week, and at which Mrs. P. B. Holmes will be a representative from Bucyrus.

TOTALS 200 YEARS

Kenton Couples in Same Vicinity Celebrate Golden Wedding

Kenton, Sept. 11—Two hundred years of happy wedded life.

That's the record boasted of by four prominent Kenton couples residing within a block and a half of each other on East Columbia st.

During the past year these four couples have held celebrations in observance of their golden wedding anniversaries, marking the close of a half century each of wedded bliss.

They are: Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bookmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Fry, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Carr and Mr. and Mrs. John Colher.

An interesting fact is that each man is a retired farmer.

VOTE ORDERED ON TOWNSHIP PROJECT

Wyandot County Residents To Ballot on Fire Apparatus Purchase

Upper Sandusky, Sept 11 Residents of Crane township are being notified this week that their board of trustees intends to purchase township fire apparatus, costing not more than $7,000 and are asked to express their views by ballot. The ballot box will be located at Lentz's Drug store in this city.

This procedure will eliminate voting on a bond issue at the November election which the trustees feel is impractical, due to the fact that the treasury holds sufficient funds for the purchase.

Action of the Upper Sandusky council in refusing to permit the local fire truck to leave the city limits has necessitated buying of township fire apparatus.
